General Motors Settles Dispute With Auto Union

DETROIT (AP)—The issue that triggered a snowballing plant-by-plant strike against General Motors Corp. by the United Auto Workers Union was settled overnight.

When agreement came, 91 GM plants were shut across the nation and 253,199 men were idle with indications that the remainder of GM's 129 plants and 350,000 production workers would be idled in a matter of days, if not hours.

A revised company check reported 90 plants shut by UAW walkouts and one by a walkout of International Union of Electrical Workers members at Warren, Ohio. The IUE and GM currently are working on local-level issues in contract negotiations.

The No. 1 issue on which local-level strikes started erupting

Monday was the amount of relief time afforded assembly and production line workers.

An all-night bargaining session Sunday failed to resolve the dispute and carried new contract negotiations past Monday's 10 a. m. strike deadline.

But within four hours after a fresh start Monday night agreement was reached on a formula reportedly suggested by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther predicted settlement of the relief time issue would materially speed wrapping up of a new three-year contract between the union and the world's largest automaker. They have agreed on an economic package which the union estimates is worth 12.04 cents hourly in take-home pay.

Several issues left dangling at the national level included: production standards (required work per hour), the scheduling of overtime for employed men when some employees are on layoff, the time union representatives may spend in the processing of grievances on company-paid time, and work done by foremen which the union insists should be done by hourly workers.

Still dangling at the local-level were 11,811 demands ranging from factory air-conditioning and air cushions for truck drivers to automatic permission to take time off for deer hunting.

Reuther postponed from 10 a. m. Wednesday to 1 p. m. Thursday a scheduled meeting of the UAW's 280-member General Motors Conference, which has authority to wrap up local issues and all-a new contract. The UAW will demand the contract be met by other members of the Big Three—Ford and Chrysler.

Reuther said the GM conference meeting was delayed to provide more negotiating time at the local level. He predicted "real and meaningful progress" could be made with bargaining sessions today and tonight.

Settlement of the relief time issue "was the key to unlock some of the most difficult problems we had at the local level," Reuther told newsmen.

Under the settlement, the company keeps its basic rule of 24 12-minute breaks—and the union wins its insistence that relief time, except in emergencies, be given within the last three hours of four-hour morning and afternoon shifts.

Reuther said that in effect the company will have to provide a relief man for each 14 employees instead of 1 for each 18.

Storm Sewers Approved by Commissioners

During a regular meeting yesterday the Pickaway County Commissioners unanimously adopted a resolution establishing and laying out the new Ashville-Teays Valley Areas Storm Sewer District.

Another resolution passed by the board authorized employment of the County Sanitary Engineer to prepare a general plan of surface water disposal in the new sewage district.

A statement was received officially from Ashville Village Council authorizing, as of Aug. 31, inclusion of portions of that community in the sewer plan. The district is to begin in the intersection of Route 752 and the Circleville-Lockbourne Eastern Road No. 31.

Parts of Ashville and land included in the site of the new Teays Valley High School are to be in the district. The Commissioners also agreed to rent the county-owned veteran's housing units to Chauncey Hurler. The motion was offered by Commissioner Lloyd Melvin and seconded by Clyde Michel.

Texans Picking Up Pieces; Storm Cost Tops $200 Million

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Texans started picking up the pieces along a battered coastline today and trying to guess how much Hurricane Carla cost.

Relentless poundings from winds hitting 175 miles per hour at the worst and tides raging up to 15 feet above normal took a property toll running into millions of dollars.

Qualified sources said they could only guess at the overall total. Tentative estimates indicated the statewide figure easily could top $200 million.

Homes and businesses from Corpus Christi, Tex., to Cameron, La., were flooded by the wild tides. The winds ripped off roofs and downed power lines as far inland as Austin.

Crops were damaged throughout the south half of central Texas. Cattle left as their owners hastened inland drowned in the low coastal areas.

Towns in low coastal areas caught the brunt of Carla's tides as businesses, homes and public buildings flooded.

County Judge Pete Lavalie said he believes Galveston suffered $16 to $18 million in damage to homes. "There is no way to estimate damage to business property," he said.

Freeport was the hardest hit by mountainous tides. That city southwest of Houston was evacuated while Carla was still 125 miles out in the gulf. The tides broke a levee and water poured through the city.

Russia Backs East German Travel Curbs

Soviet Rejects West Protest to Sealing Of Border in Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—In a note assailing Western troop movements to Berlin, the Soviet Union has told the West that the Communist East German regime has the right to regulate foreign travel to East Berlin.

Rejecting an Aug. 26 note from the U.S., British and French ambassadors to West Germany protesting the sealing of the border in divided Berlin, the Soviets told the ambassadors Monday to take their complaints to the East German regime.

One major aim of Premier Khrushchev's pressure on Berlin is to force Western recognition of East Germany. The Western powers regard the East German regime as a Soviet puppet.

Mikhail Pervukhin, Soviet ambassador to East Germany, complained in his note that the Western powers had brought troop reinforcements to Berlin and had posted soldiers on West Berlin's border.

Pervukhin declared such troop movements could encourage "West Berlin's fascist and revenge-seeking elements" and this could result in serious consequences.

Foreigners now are admitted to East Berlin but Pervukhin's note raised the possibility that they soon would be barred. Foreigners may cross into East Berlin on subway and elevated trains or on foot and by car at a special gate at the corner of Friedrichstrasse and Zimmerstrasse.

Pervukhin's letter to U.S. Ambassador Walter C. Dowling was published Monday night by the East German news agency ADN.

The Soviet ambassador said: "Visits by citizens of foreign states to the (East) German Democratic Republic, known as an independent sovereign state, and to its capital are regulated by the government of the G.D.R. If you have any wishes in this connection you must 'act' them up with the authorities of the G.D.R."

In his reference to foreigners, Pervukhin did not distinguish between civilians and troops. In their military dealings, the Western Allies have so far avoided formal contact with East German officials.

Bridge Is Opened On Repaved Road

Persons driving west of Circleville on Route 22 may now enjoy a highway that has been almost fully rebuilt during the summer.

A new, wider bridge spanning Yellowbud Creek about two miles east of Williamsport was opened to traffic this week. It was built by Twin Construction Co., Chillicothe.

In addition to the new concrete-floor bridge, several miles of the federal route between Williamsport and New Holland have been widened and resurfaced. This project will continue for some time.

6 in Galveston Killed by Twister

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—The staggering backlash of hurricane Carla spawned a lethal, pre-dawn tornado in Galveston today, killing at least six persons and injuring between 50 and 50 others.

Police, digging through the mounds of collapsed homes, said they feared the toll would grow higher when the rubble is cleared.

Brad Messer, assistant executive editor of the Galveston News-Tribune, walked through the 2-by-6 block devastated area and said an estimated 100 wood homes had been crushed.

Tides three feet deep covered the tornado area, making rescue and relief difficult.

Carla, which touched land Monday with blasts reaching an estimated 173 miles an hour at one point, late this morning centered 200 miles inland between Austin and Waco and headed for southern Oklahoma.

The Weather Bureau called it a "decaying storm" with gale winds of 55 miles an hour extending 200 miles to the north and east.

"It looks as if this will be the largest single insurance loss the country has ever experienced," said Darby Hammond, Dallas executive director of Southwestern Insurance Information Service.

John White, state farm commissioner, estimated farm loss at $140 million.

Galveston officials estimated hurricane losses up to $18 million—before the tornado struck. Corpus Christi, Tex., authorities estimated that city's loss at $10 million.

At Port Arthur, Tex., near the Louisiana line, portions of a levee crumbled today, sending water slowly toward 50 or 60 homes in suburban Port Acres, Carl Moon of the sheriff's office said.

High tides thrown up by Carla still isolated many communities and cities, including Galveston. The Weather Bureau said the tides will subside slowly.

The Galveston tornado struck the courthouse as well as a residential area. About 1,200 hurricane refugees were sheltered in the courthouse and broken glass struck many.

Galveston's St. Mary's Catholic Cathedral and an adjoining school suffered extensive roof damage. Several houses were demolished and police estimated that 30 to 50 cars were wrecked.

The Weather Bureau called for hurricane warnings to remain displayed from Corpus Christi, Tex., to Morgan City, La., as Carla's winds and tides continued to rake the area.

Winds up to 55 m.p.h. extended 150 miles from Carla's center, the bureau said.

The bureau said dangerously high tides remained over the coastal areas affected by the storm.

The agency also said locally heavy rains up to eight inches could be expected and cause floods.

Victoria, Tex., inland from the coast, reported 13 inches of rain. Known dead as a result of the storm included Able D. Threlton, 56, of Houston, who was killed by a storm-cut power line Monday night; and a 4-week-old child killed by a Carla-spawned tornado in Louisiana Sunday night.

The Weather Bureau also issued a tornado forecast for one or more twisters in a 120-mile-wide sector centering on a line from Galveston northward all the way across Texas to Sherman near the Red River.

The hurricane, battering the Gulf Coast all the way from Corpus Christi to Morgan City, La., slammed ashore on Matagorda Island Monday to start a destructive push deep into Texas.

Weather Bureau observers said only a few traces of Carla's power remained by the time it reached the Austin area in central Texas about 4 a.m.

Winds of 50 to 75 miles per hour continued in squalls near the vanishing storm center and gales continued in scattered squalls extending 150 miles outward.

Forecasters warned of possible flood threats from five- to eight-inch rains expected as remnants of the hurricane pushed on toward the northwest through Texas and into southern Oklahoma.

Hurrying to aid storm-ravaged coastal cities were the U.S. aircraft carriers Shangri-La and Antietam, the destroyers Compton and Giano, the transport Francis Marion and two Marine Corps helicopters.

In Galveston, the pre-dawn twisters bounded southward from the business district through an area eight blocks wide and 16 blocks long. Although one hit the courthouse, Red Cross County Disaster Chairman Fletcher Harris said shattered windows were the main damage. He reported flying bits of glass cut 50 to 60 persons but none was hurt seriously.

There was other tornado damage in Galveston—much of it still under water 3½ feet deep from hurricane-tossed tides and waves—to the police station, a church and at least a few homes.

In contrast to winds reaching 175 miles an hour on the coast, Carla hit no higher than 68 m.p.h. at Austin. Driving rains fell across most of the area behind the hurricane.

Registration Deadline for Voters Near

In order to vote in Pickaway County at the coming general election voters must be registered. September 27 is the last day to register in order to be eligible to vote November 7.

Registration must be in person at the Board of Elections office, in the basement of the courthouse, from 9 a. m. to noon and 1 to 4 p. m. Monday through Friday and from 9 to 12 a. m. Saturdays. If a voter has already registered, he need not register again unless he has moved or changed his name since he last registered.

A woman must re-register if she has married since she registered. However, if she marries after September 27 she may vote this time under her former name.

Ohio election laws do not require members of the armed forces to register in order to vote by Armed Service Absent Voters Ballots while they are in service, but after being discharged, ex-service-men must register.

RECENT legislation has also extended the privilege of voting Armed Service Absent Voters Ballots, without being registered, to the husbands or wives of members of the armed forces, if the absence from Ohio is for the purpose of being with the serviceman, or woman.

4 More East German Police Flee to West

The four had been friendly for some time, the West Berlin report said, and decided to flee together.

Negotiations Start Anew

Ohio General Motors Plants Hit by Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Negotiations started anew Monday night and Tuesday in an effort to settle contractual local issues which in most cases have idled almost 39,000 General Motors employees in 16 Ohio plants.

The walkouts in Ohio and elsewhere in the sprawling GM system started Monday when the United Automobile Workers Union strike deadline was reached.

Nationally, GM and the UAW reached essential agreement on wages and benefits a week ago.

Only four Cleveland area plants were not struck in Ohio. They are the Euclid Division Plant at Hudson (employing 530), Cleveland St. Clair Street (453) and Cleveland Clinton Road (361), where tentative local agreements were reached Saturday, and Cleveland's Cadillac tank plant (200).

The GM plants struck in Ohio and the number of employees affected:

Cleveland, Chevrolet, Fisher Body (2 plants), 10,700; Sandusky, New Departure, 1,648; Toledo, Chevrolet Transmission, 2,200; Columbus, Termostad, 3,268; Mansfield, Fisher Body, 2,000; Elyria, Brown-Lipe-Chapin, 789; Warren, Packard Electric, 4,751; Defiance, Central Foundry, 1,736; Hamilton, Fisher Body, 2,500; Cleveland, Cleveland Diesel, 217; Dayton, Delco Moraine, 2651; Euclid, Fisher Body, 2,203; Norwood, Chevrolet, Fisher Body, 2,650.

Workers at all those plants, except one, are members of the UAW. Those at Warren's Packard Electric plant are members of the International Union of Electrical Workers. They jumped the gun on the IUE's extended strike deadline of Thursday midnight.

Dayton's Delco Moraine and Elyria's Brown-Lipe-Chapin plants also were idled despite local-level agreements reached earlier.

Chillicothean Gets Conservancy Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Richard E. Midden, for the last five years manager of the Chillicothe Chamber of Commerce, will become secretary of the new Scioto Conservancy District at a salary of $12,000 a year, it was announced today.

Virgil E. Minch, of Chillicothe, a director of the district, made the announcement. Midden has resigned his Chillicothe Chamber of Commerce post, but for the next 60 days he will divide his time between the chamber and the conservancy district. His formal appointment to the conservancy job will be made by directors at a meeting here Friday.

Midden has conducted an extensive flood control survey for the Army Corps of Engineers to justify a flood protection project at Chillicothe.

Commission, County Welfare Director Clash on Departmental Office Needs

An explosive exchange of views marked by political name-calling erupted yesterday as the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners met in regular session in an attempt to smooth over a long-smoldering controversy concerning new offices for the County Welfare Department.

Central figures in the verbal clash were County Welfare Director Pauline Reese, who accused private political interests of hindering relocation of the Department and Commissioner Lloyd Melvin, subject of most of her attacks.

The dispute broke into the open when Commission chairman Charles Morris Jr. called for a motion to approve a lease with George C. Barnes, Circleville real estate broker, for new Welfare headquarters to be placed in a dwelling at 121 S. Scioto St.

Commissioner Clyde Michel moved to accept the $150-per-month terms, but Melvin balked at seconding the motion saying "I wish to pass."

HIS NON-COMMITTAL stand came under immediate fire from Morris, who stated, "I want a unanimous vote on this thing or nothing at all. There is too much controversy on this issue for the Commissioners to be divided." Melvin remained adamant, however, reasserting his desire to pass on the motion.

It was pointed out that Morris could temporarily remove himself from the chairmanship to second Michel's motion. He declined reiterating his wish for unanimity if a decision was to be reached.

The issue revolves about a need recognized by the Commissioners last April for additional office space to house the rapidly-expanding Welfare Department. At that time, Miss Reese and the Commissioners agreed yesterday, the director was requested to "see what she could find" in the way of new quarters for her agency.

Since the State Department of Welfare would bear the cost of renting facilities outside the courthouse, rather than the county, any quarters to be privately leased must have the approval of examiners from the state bureau. Comparative studies of renting costs in the city were made and the results submitted to the state.

The quest narrowed to two dwellings on Scioto St. after a third property adjacent to the courthouse had been ruled out by state inspectors. State Welfare Department officials examined floor plans of both units and decided to approve Barnes' property, Miss Reese said.

In essence the state department has said this house or nothing, Miss Reese told the Commissioners.

A PRIME state welfare code requirement for county agency operation is adequate space for personnel and equipment. Morris and Michel noted that with present facilities inadequate, refusal to accept the state's decision might result in withdrawal of state financial aid.

It was again emphasized by Melvin that if the other two Commissioners acted together, majority approval could be given. Morris repeated his determination to seek a unanimous decision or none at all.

The Welfare Director brought the room to an uproar when she observed, "It's too bad when one man like Charlie Mowery has so much political influence he can stop something this needed." Directing her criticism at Melvin, she apparently referred to Charles Mowery owner of the building at 227 N. Scioto St. which was rejected by the state in favor of Barnes' house.

Bloodmobile Here Friday; Support Urged

The Red Cross Bloodmobile's scheduled trip here Friday has prompted the local recruitment committee to request support from city and county residents in order to assure another successful visit.

The unit will set up operations at the First Methodist Church from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Mrs. Roliff Wolford, local Red Cross Chapter executive secretary, recently received a letter from Carl H. Braley, administrative director of the Columbus Regional Blood Center, commending Pickaway County for its excellent response to the Bloodmobile visit in August.

The August visit produced 143 pints of blood here. A total of 169 donors answered the call.

Braley said this fine showing in Pickaway County helped relieve somewhat a critical blood situation. However, he noted that a shortage still exists, making it necessary to operate the Blood Center on an emergency basis.

The situation in other areas: McDonald — estimated property losses up to $10 million.

Port Arthur—Some flooding. A weakened levee posed an even greater threat.

Baytown — Flood conditions; Wooster, on Baytown's outskirts, was so flooded it was declared a disaster area. An estimated 1,700 people fled two inundated subdivisions.

Texas City — Isolated by high waters and winds. Business district completely flooded.

Kemah — This Galveston Bay city had water up to the eaves of its stores and in many homes. The Kemah yacht basin was a clutter of splintered yachts and sailing craft.

Bay City — Torrential rains flooded streets and strong winds damaged roofs.

Houston—Caught only a glancing blow but tides rose almost 15 feet above normal in its ship channel, 50 miles from the coast. Warehouses full of flour were flooded. Homes were flooded. Store windows were smashed.

Game Warden Killer Slated for Parole

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Former Adams County Sheriff George Baldridge, convicted of manslaughter in the 1955 shooting of game warden Irvin J. Patrick, will be paroled from Ohio Penitentiary about Oct. 5.

Baldridge, 67, was received March 9, 1956, for the Nov. 15, 1955, fatal shooting. Patrick died on the way to Fayette County Memorial Hospital after being hit with a shotgun blast on Baldridge's farm near Washington Court House. Witnesses testified Baldridge objected to Patrick's arresting his nephew for a supposed game violation.

Russia Backs East German Travel Curbs

Soviet Rejects West Protest to Sealing Of Border in Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—In a note assailing Western troop movements to Berlin, the Soviet Union has told the West that the Communist East German regime has the right to regulate foreign travel to East Berlin.

Rejecting an Aug. 26 note from the U.S., British and French ambassadors to West Germany protesting the sealing of the border in divided Berlin, the Soviets told the ambassadors Monday to take their complaints to the East German regime.

One major aim of Premier Khrushchev's pressure on Berlin is to force Western recognition of East Germany. The Western powers regard the East German regime as a Soviet puppet.

Mikhail Pervukhin, Soviet ambassador to East Germany, complained in his note that the Western powers had brought troop reinforcements to Berlin and had posted soldiers on West Berlin's border.

Pervukhin declared such troop movements could encourage "West Berlin's fascist and revenge-seeking elements" and this could result in serious consequences.

Foreigners now are admitted to East Berlin but Pervukhin's note raised the possibility that they soon would be barred. Foreigners may cross into East Berlin on subway and elevated trains or on foot and by car at a special gate at the corner of Friedrichstrasse and Zimmerstrasse.

Pervukhin's letter to U.S. Ambassador Walter C. Dowling was published Monday night by the East German news agency ADN.

The Soviet ambassador said: "Visits by citizens of foreign states to the (East) German Democratic Republic, known as an independent sovereign state, and to its capital are regulated by the government of the G.D.R. If you have any wishes in this connection you must 'ask' them up with the authorities of the G.D.R."

In his reference to foreigners, Pervukhin did not distinguish between civilians and troops. In their military dealings, the Western Allies have so far avoided formal contact with East German officials.

Bridge Is Opened On Repaved Road

Persons driving west of Circleville on Route 22 may now enjoy a highway that has been almost fully rebuilt during the summer.

A new, wider bridge spanning Yellowbrook Creek about two miles east of Williamsport was opened to traffic this week. It was built by Twin Construction Co., Chillicothe.

In addition to the new concrete-floor bridge, several miles of the federal route between Williamsport and New Holland have been widened and resurfaced. This project will continue for some time.

6 in Galveston Killed by Twister

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — The staggering backlash of hurricane Carla spawned a lethal, pre-dawn tornado in Galveston today, killing at least six persons and injuring between 50 and 60 others.

Police, digging through the mounds of collapsed homes, said they feared the toll would grow higher when the rubble is cleared.

Brad Messer, assistant executive editor of the Galveston News-Tribune, walked through the 2-by-6 block devastated area and said an estimated 100 wood homes had been crushed.

Tides three feet deep covered the tornado area, making rescue and relief difficult.

Carla, which touched land Monday with blasts reaching an estimated 173 miles an hour at one point, late this morning centered 200 miles inland between Austin and Waco and headed for southern Oklahoma.

The Weather Bureau called it a "decaying storm" with gale winds of 55 miles an hour extending 200 miles to the north and east.

"It looks as if this will be the largest single insurance loss the country has ever experienced," said Darby Hammond, Dallas executive director of Southwestern Insurance Information Service.

John White, state farm commissioner, estimated farm loss at $140 million.

Galveston officials estimated hurricane losses up to $18 million — before the tornado struck. Corpus Christi, Tex., authorities estimated that city's loss at $10 million.

At Port Arthur, Tex., near the Louisiana line, portions of a levee crumbled today, sending water slowly toward 50 or 60 homes in suburban Port Acres, Carl Moon of the sheriff's office said.

High tides thrown up by Carla still isolated many communities and cities, including Galveston. The Weather Bureau said the tides will subside slowly.

The Galveston tornado struck the courthouse as well as a residential area. About 1,200 hurricane refugees were sheltered in the courthouse and broken glass struck many.

Galveston's St. Mary's Catholic Cathedral and an adjoining school suffered extensive roof damage. Several houses were demolished and police estimated that 30 to 50 cars were wrecked.

The Weather Bureau called for hurricane warnings to remain displayed from Corpus Christi, Tex., to Morgan City, La., as Carla's winds and tides continued to rake the area.

Winds up to 55 m.p.h. extended 150 miles from Carla's center, the bureau said.

The bureau said dangerously high tides remained over the coastal areas affected by the storm.

The agency also said locally heavy rains up to eight inches could be expected and cause floods.

Victoria, Tex., inland from the coast, reported 13 inches of rain. Known dead as a result of the storm included Able D. Threelon, 56, of Houston, who was killed by a storm-cut power line Monday night; and a 4-week-old child killed by a Carla-spawned tornado in Louisiana Sunday night.

The Weather Bureau also issued a tornado forecast for one or more twisters in a 120-mile-wide sector centering on a line from Galveston northward all the way across Texas to Sherman near the Red River.

The hurricane, battering the Gulf Coast all the way from Corpus Christi to Morgan City, La., slammed ashore on Matagorda Island Monday to start a destructive push deep into Texas.

Weather Bureau observers said only a few traces of Carla's power remained by the time it reached the Austin area in central Texas about 4 a.m.

Winds of 50 to 75 miles per hour continued in squalls near the vanishing storm center and gales continued in scattered squalls extending 150 miles outward.

Forecasters warned of possible flood threats from five- to eight-inch rains expected as remnants of the hurricane pushed on toward the northwest through Texas and into southern Oklahoma.

Hurrying to aid storm-ravaged coastal cities were the U.S. aircraft carriers Shangri-La and Antietam, the destroyers Compton and Gianard, the transport Francis Marion and two Marine Corps helicopters.

In Galveston, the predawn twisters bounded southward from the business district through an area eight blocks wide and 16 blocks long. Although one hit the courthouse, Red Cross County Disaster Chairman Fletcher Harris said shattered windows were the main damage. He reported flying bits of glass cut 50 to 60 persons but none was hurt seriously.

There was other tornado damage in Galveston—much of it still under water 3½ feet deep from hurricane-tossed tides and waves —to the police station, a church and at least a few homes.

In contrast to winds reaching 175 miles an hour on the coast, Carla hit no higher than 68 m.p.h. at Austin. Driving rains fell across most of the area behind the hurricane.

Registration Deadline for Voters Near

In order to vote in Pickaway County at the coming general election voters must be registered. September 27 is the last day to register in order to be eligible to vote November 7.

Registration must be in person at the Board of Elections office, in the basement of the courthouse, from 9 a. m. to noon and 1 to 4 p. m. Monday through Friday and from 9 to 12 a. m. Saturdays. If a voter has already registered, he need not register again unless he has moved or changed his name since he last registered.

A woman must re-register if she has married since she registered. However, if she marries after September 27 she may vote this time under her former name.

Ohio election laws do not require members of the armed forces to register in order to vote by Armed Service Absent Voters Ballots while they are in service, but after being discharged, ex-servicemen must register.

RECENT legislation has also extended the privilege of voting Armed Service Absent Voters Ballots, without being registered, to the husbands or wives of members of the armed forces, if the absence from Ohio is for the purpose of being with the serviceman, or woman.

4 More East German Police Flee to West

BERLIN (AP)—Four border policemen escaped from East Berlin Sunday night, West Berlin officials disclosed today. They had been assigned to dig ditches along the sector border.

The four had been friendly for some time, the West Berlin report said, and decided to flee together.

Commission, County Welfare Director Clash on Departmental Office Needs

An explosive exchange of views marked by political name-calling erupted yesterday as the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners met in regular session in an attempt to smooth over a long-smoldering controversy concerning new offices for the County Welfare Department.

Central figures in the verbal clash were County Welfare Director Pauline Roese, who accused private political interests of hindering relocation of the Department and Commissioner Lloyd Melvin, subject of most of her attacks.

The dispute broke into the open when Commission chairman Charles Morris Jr. called for a motion to approve a lease with George C. Barnes, Circleville real estate broker, for new Welfare headquarters to be placed in a dwelling at 121 S. Scioto St.

Commissioner Clyde Michel moved to accept the $150 - per-month terms, but Melvin balked at

seconding the motion saying "I wish to pass."

HIS NON - COMMITTAL stand came under immediate fire from Morris, who stated, "I want a unanimous vote on this thing or nothing at all. There is too much controversy on this issue for the Commissioners to be divided." Melvin remained adamant, however, reasserting his desire to pass on the motion.

It was pointed out that Morris could temporarily remove himself from the chairmanship to second Michel's motion. He declined reiterating his wish for unanimity if a decision was to be reached.

The issue revolves about a need recognized by the Commissioners last April for additional office space to house the rapidly-expanding Welfare Department. At that time, Miss Roese and the Commissioners agreed yesterday, the director was requested to "see what she could find" in the way of new quarters for her agency.

Since the State Department of Welfare would bear the cost of renting facilities outside the courthouse, rather than the county, any quarters to be privately leased must have the approval of examiners from the state bureau. Comparative studies of renting costs in the city were made and the results submitted to the state.

The quest narrowed to two dwellings on Scioto St. after a third property adjacent to the courthouse had been ruled out by state inspectors. State Welfare Department officials examined floor plans of both units and decided to approve Barnes' property, Miss Roese said.

In essence the state department has said this house or nothing, Miss Roese told the Commissioners.

A PRIME state welfare code requirement for county agency operation is adequate space for personnel and equipment. Morris and Michel noted that with present facilities inadequate, refusal to accept the state's decision might result in withdrawal of state financial aid.

It was again emphasized by Melvin that if the other two Commissioners acted together, majority approval could be given. Morris repeated his determination to seek a unanimous decision or none at all.

The Welfare Director brought the room to an uproar when she observed, "It's too bad when one man like Charlie Mowery has so much political influence he can stop something this needed." Directing her criticism at Melvin, she apparently referred to Charles Mowery owner of the building at 227 N. Scioto St. which was rejected by the state in favor of Barnes' house.

hasn't influenced me one bit." He declined to explain his objection to the Barnes lease in full saying "there are facts that need to be uncovered and I won't second any motion until I find the full facts."

Turning to Miss Roese he asked "We (the Commissioners) are your bosses, right?" The director agreed but added that she had passed several civil service tests to qualify for her position.

Melvin said he questioned how the case could have approved the Barnes' building when inspecting officials hadn't even gone inside it. Miss Roese said this was true, but examiners based their decisions on comparisons of floor plans of the two houses, plus additional information.

SHE ADDED the inspectors had studied plans of both the Barnes and Mowery units before making a recommendation for approval or either one.

Melvin said "I'm not mad at anyone, but I feel incorrect information was given and better rent terms should have been obtained. We're spending the Ohio taxpayer's money here and one woman shouldn't say 'Rent this.'"

Morris pointed out the Commissioners knew what was going on and nothing was said until the last minute. He added Miss Roese had simply told the state what the requirements of her department would be.

Commissioner Michel stated the Commission dealt with the entire matter in an official capacity only in the signing of the lease. He said "A suitable place should be found by State Welfare Department standards, regardless of the landlord."

Melvin replied his opposition had nothing to do with any private connection with Mowery. "I'm as free - minded as any of you, but I've found things about this I'm against and I won't second it until I'm satisfied," he said.

After Morris and Melvin conferred again, Michel noted "It's too bad all this work has been done and so much time spent and you fellows can't agree."

MISS ROESE contended most of the opposition to the proposed move stemmed from personal and political reasons rather than any real wish for improvement in her department's operation.

She said sources as high as Governor Michael V. DiSalle had been contacted after the decision to approve Barnes' property was made public Aug. 22 by Milton H. Klein, executive assistant for public assistance in the Ohio Department of Public Welfare.

Fishermen Fined For No License

Two men were fined in Circleville Municipal Court today for fishing without a license.

Richard Van Gundy, 703 N. Court St., and Richard Mogan, Columbus, each was fined $15 and costs by Judge Sterling Lamb on charges filed by R. D. Kreis, game protector.

Barnes' house contains 1,724 square feet of space while the Mowery property, offered at $125 per month, contains 1,300 square feet. The latter is too small and the floor plan is too awkward for department purposes, Miss Roese stated.

The director also said when inspectors were here Mowery requested them not to enter his house, since it was at that time occupied by private residents.

Present Welfare Department rooms at the rear of the first floor of the court house are too small and provide no privacy for counseling with persons to be advised by caseworkers.

Morris added a new twist to the debate when he remarked the rooms now occupied by the Welfare Department would serve well as additional offices for the Probation - Juvenile Court.

He particularly mentioned obtaining a separate office for Probation Officer Ralph Starkey. Starkey now works in the Court's outer office.

NO OTHER changes of room allocation had been publicly discussed previously, and the question was raised of further relocations within the courthouse itself by various branches of the county government.

Although Melvin again told his fellow Commissioners they could bypass him and approve the lease by a 2-1 vote, Morris maintained his original position. The motion died for lack of a second.

Failure to obtain the lease means the department's planned Surplus Commodities Program for distributing food and supplies in bulk to welfare recipients will be delayed. Miss Roese said there is no room in present quarters for the supplies or a clerk necessary to supervise distribution.

Melvin consulted with State Welfare Department officials by telephone late yesterday afternoon and said he might change his mind and sign the lease later.

This possibility was dimmed, though, after both Michel and Morris stated the lease matter was finished as far as they were concerned.

Miss Roese said she was "stunned and disappointed" by the Commissioner's failure to act. "They've toyed with this thing long enough. I only did what they told me to do."

THE COMMISSIONERS set 9 a. m. tomorrow for a special meeting to consider utilization of available space in some county-owned building for the welfare agency. Use of Memorial Hall and revision of a garage were mentioned, though both would be expensive it was noted.

"Maybe we all failed here," chairman Morris summed up.

Welfare Director Explains Finances

Of the $330,000 allocated for operation of the Pickaway County Welfare Department in 1961, only $17,300 comes from the county general fund, department director Pauline Roese explained today.

The county - appropriated sum comes from a 0.15 mill portion of the tax duplicate and is required by state law. The local funds are used to finance the Aid to Dependent Children program.

The balance of the budget comes from state and federal appropriations and utility excise taxes distributed by the state on a statutory formula basis.

Program of welfare covered by these funds include aid to the blind aid for the disabled and - the biggest item - general relief.

Unemployment Drop Expected

U.S. Total of Below
4 Million Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department reported today a good chance that unemployment will drop below 4 million in October.

The department issued its detailed analysis of the August job picture of which Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg had already given highlights.

The report showed that both business payrolls and total non-farm employment, as well as over-all employment, reached a record high for August but joblessness clung to the recession rate of 6.9 per cent.

The department's manpower expert, Dr. Seymour Wolfbein, told reporters the August total of idle men and women, 4,542,000, reflects "a pretty sticky problem." Nevertheless there are signs that it is yielding to continued gains in business, he said.

If unemployment follows a strictly seasonal pattern it will drop to about 4.2 million this month and 4 million in October, Wolfbein said.

"We think there is a good chance that we will get better than the seasonal performance," he added.

Resumption of production in auto plants following model changeovers, the strong upsurge of steel output and the withdrawal of hoards of young folk from the labor force with the reopening of school should contribute to the brightening of the job picture, Wolfbein said.

Virtually all manufacturing industries except automobiles shared in the August advance in non-farm employment which carried the over-all job total to 65,539,000—a rise of 40,000 from July and about 350,000 from August 1960.

The average work week in factories climbed to 40.1 hours, a gain of about one-tenth of an hour. Weekly earnings of factory employees stood at $93.83 on the average, about the same as in July.

The number of workers on non-farm payrolls—$3.4 million—represented a gain of about 300,000 from July and nearly 100,000 from a year ago. Farm employment was continued to drift downward, as it has for decades, and was at the lowest level on record for the month.

The decline of 598,000 in joblessness in August was described as about normal for the season. Accordingly, the unemployment rate, after allowing for seasonal factors, remained for the ninth month at a level just under 7 per cent.

Panicky Thug Loses $5 In Robbery Attempt

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A gunman lost $5 in a holdup attempt at a Portland service station.

Attendant Steven Stabler, 21, told police a man walked into the station Monday night, handed him a $5 bill and asked for change.

The visitor then pulled a revolver. Thinking quickly, Stabler shouted: "There's a police car! You're not getting anything from me!"

There was no police car but the rattled gunman fled empty-handed.

Sheriffs' Office Checking Suspect

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department today checked on a suspect in connection with the theft of about $200 in cash and a two-wheel trailer.

Glenn Flemming, Route 2, Ashville, reported the incident yesterday. Flemming told Special Deputy Max Spangler a two-wheel trailer and about $200 in cash and cigarettes were taken from his service station at the intersection of Routes 104 and 316.

Description of a man seen in the area has led to a probable suspect, according to Deputy William Pontious.

Gross Tax Stamp Take Drops Here

Gross sales tax stamp receipts at the Pickaway County Treasurer's office declined this week by almost 50 per cent.

Spokesmen noted the Labor Day closing had resulted in a shorter tabulation period and most of the newest stamp purchases were made a week ago at the beginning of the month.

For the week ending Sept. 9, receipts totaled $3,477.30. This was compared to a $6,691.59 handle for the week which closed Sept. 2.

Ashville Area Home Entered

An Ashville area home was burglarized yesterday, according to Deputy Sheriff William Pontious.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Parsons, Route 2, Ashville, was entered and burglarized while both members of the family were at work.

Deputy Pontious said among the larger items listed in the theft were a 17-inch portable television set, a 12-inch revolving fan, a man's wrist watch and $32 in cash. The burglars entered the home by forcing a lock on a back door.

MANY of the stolen articles were in two pieces of luggage that were taken from the Parsons home.

A set of dentures, several pieces of clothing, insurance papers, old coins, a portable radio and an electric razor were included in the loot.

The Sheriff's Department is continuing its investigation. All clues will be checked out, Pontious said.

Deputies Douse Fire at Jail

The Circleville Fire Department was called to the Pickaway County Jail yesterday evening to douse a small fire started by a female mental patient in her cell.

Deputy William Pontious said the fire was extinguished by deputies before firemen arrived.

Pontious said the mental patient ignited a small piece of cloth torn from a mattress or towel.

Special Deputy Charles Tomlinson was operating the radio when he smelled smoke. He notified the fire department before investigating the incident.

The mental patient later was taken to the Columbus State Hospital by Sheriff Walton W. Spangler and Deputy Pontious.

Hurricane Carla Roars Inland, Still Dangerous

Huddled in shelters across the state, crowding hotels, motels, parks and homes of relatives were the refugees whose caravans Monday reached into Arkansas and Oklahoma, 400 miles and more from the ravaged coast.

Officials in both Louisiana and Texas pleaded for the refugees to stay out of the evacuated towns. Flooding streams, high tides, weakened levees, and snakes by the thousands were still a threat. National Guardsmen, local officers and Texas Rangers maintained antilooting patrols.

Terrific winds and rains hit Austin streets and made automobile traffic dangerous.

Heavy rains made travel almost impossible. The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said it lost 50,000 circuits soon after the storm struck inland.

The only known dead were Able D. Threton, 56, of Houston, who stepped on a stormdowned power line Monday night, and a child who died in a Louisiana tornado Sunday night as Carla churned 150 miles offshore.

Spawning in the Caribbean Sea, Carla shouldered between western Cuba and Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula last Thursday to enter the Gulf of Mexico.

Meteorologists first described the great storm as "dangerous." Then Carla was called "very dangerous," and finally "extremely dangerous." Civil defense officials said Carla might be the "fiercest storm of the 20th century."

Civil defense leaders said a half million people fled before the storm. The Red Cross estimated the refugee flood at 300,000. Officials said the huge scale evacuation saved thousands of lives and warnings helped save millions in property damage.

Officials hesitated to estimate losses. The farm loss in Texas was placed by Agriculture Commissioner John White at $140 million.

The mayor of Corpus Christi estimated damage in his city at $5 to $10 million.

There were almost no other official figures available on property losses. As one Galveston official put it, "We can't estimate anything yet—it's still under water."

Galveston, where 6,000 persons died in a 1900 hurricane, apparently was one of the hardest hit cities. Freeport, almost totally evacuated, suffered untold losses as a levee broke and spilled high tides across the town. Houston had heavy damage.

Carla did her first dirty work as she hit Matagorda Island, where 2,000 cattle were trapped on a 40,000 acre ranch. Then she hit Port Lavaca. The almost deserted town was strewn with debris, signs, roofs, bit of roof, corrugated iron, broken plate glass and tree limbs.

"I saw the roof come off one large building," said Ronnie Thompson, Dallas based staff member of The Associated Press from Victoria. "It blew 50 feet in the air and landed 200 feet away in one large gust." Thompson ran a gauntlet of hurricane winds, broken tree limbs, sputtering and broken power lines, and hurtling debris in an effort to get to Port Lavaca.

Between Port Lavaca and Victoria, the blasts of Carla struck La Salle, Tex., and then Edna, Tex., where the roof was blown from a school which sheltered scores of refugees.

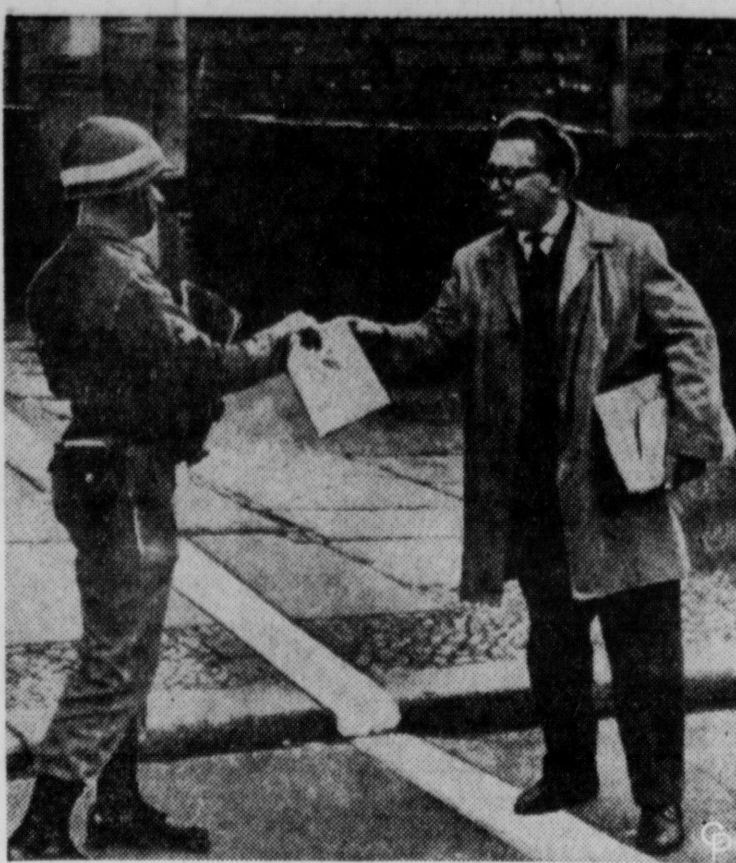

While the storm roared inland, Port Arthur officials expressed fear that a levee protecting the city's lakeshore drive might give away as Carla's backwash whipped the southeast Texas coastal city.

The tide level rose 10 feet Monday night when 75 m.p.h. winds with gusts up to 100 m.p.h. again whipped the city, one of the first to evacuate before Carla's rush.

A tornado spawned in the hurricane's turbulence ripped into Houston's Channelview section, injured 22 persons, demolished seven homes and damaged several others.

Parts of Texas City, between Galveston and Houston and on the mainland's edge, were under 20 feet of water. Power failed and the water supply was contaminated. A radio newsman said efforts were being made to evacuate

Prison Aides Book Parley In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Congress of Correction—an annual gathering of specialists who work with prisoners and parolees—will meet in Ohio this month for the first time since 1940.

The 91st annual congress will open in Columbus Saturday, Sept. 23, with meetings of the Correctional Administrators of America and the Association of Paroling Authorities.

There will be five general sessions, 21 workshops and about 50 sectional meetings during the next few days, winding up with open house tours of Ohio's state prisons Friday, Sept. 29.

"Of course, we will arrange visits to the prisons during the week for those who cannot go Friday," Ohio Correction Commissioner Maury C. Koblenz said. "These people are especially interested in seeing the newer institutions at Lebanon and Marion."

Koblenz said there have been at least 25 official requests in recent weeks from prison officials, legislators and others to visit the Lebanon and Marion prisons.

The Congress was initiated in 1876 at Cincinnati, and the last time it met in Ohio was in the Queen City in 1940.

About 1,500 persons are expected to participate. Twenty-two associations are taking part.

ate 2,000 refugees from Texas City snailers that had no sanitary facilities, no water and no food.

Downtown Galveston was flooded with waistdeep water in some sections and the entire island was without power. Emergency generators were in use at Galveston hospitals. Damage was heavy along the waterfront.

While hundreds of thousands fled the hurricane's wrath, many preferred to stay put. City Manager Hugh Bowers at Port Lavaca sent a message to the evacuees from his town that all was not lost and their homes were mostly intact.

The tide level rose 10 feet Monday night when 75 m.p.h. winds with gusts up to 100 m.p.h. again whipped the city, one of the first to evacuate before Carla's rush.

Carey Shoe Plant Due To Close Friday

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) —Seiberling Rubber Co.'s shoe products plant at nearby Carey will close down Friday. Its 80 employees will receive severance or retirement pay, Harry P. Schrank, Seiberling president, said Sunday night at his home in Akron.

Seiberling, which has its main office in Barberton, an Akron suburb, opened a new shoe products plant in Batesville, Ark., last month. A plant of 100,000 square feet—five times the size of the Carey plant—was leased from Independence County, Ark. Operations which have been conducted at the Carey plant no longer are needed because of the Batesville output. The Arkansas plant will employ about 100 when it reaches full production.

Employees at the Carey plant are represented by the United Rubber Workers Union. Arrangements were begun last week for shutting down the plant, which makes shoe soles and heels. The plant was begun on a temporary basis in World War II and then continued, Schrank said.

Schrank said none of the Carey workers would move to the Batesville plant, but that some might go on the hiring list for the tire plant at Barberton where there is a present layoff list of about 100.

Ag Agency Ups Estimate On Corn Crop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today estimated this year's production of corn for grain at 3,519,500,000 bushels and the wheat crop at 1,210,477,000 bushels.

The corn estimate is 167,463,000 bushels more than last month's forecast of 3,352,037,000. It compares with 3,891,212,000 last year and 3,013,797,000 for the 10-year (1950-59) average.

The wheat estimate is 6,381,000 bushels more than the August forecast of 1,204,096,000 bushels. It likewise compares with 1,350,339,000 last year and 1,094,770,000 for the 10-year average.

Both crops are being grown under government programs designed to hold down overproduction.

The department estimated all spring wheat at 152,937,000 bushels compared with 146,556,000 last month, 246,444,000 produced last year and 255,530,000 for the 10-year average.

No new estimate was made for winter wheat, which a month ago was estimated at 1,057,540,000 bushels compared with 1,103,895,000 last year and 839,240,000 for the 10-year average.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

There were a few showers over a few counties in Southwestern Ohio Monday evening, while the rest of the state had fair, dry weather.

The heat wave which has pushed daytime temperatures into the high 80s and low 90s for the last 10 days is expected to break up with the arrival of general showers Wednesday.

Some relief from the high temperatures will be felt along Lake Erie and in a few scattered sections are expected today.

Hurricane Carla, now losing much of her energy, is expected to move north and northeast across the Middle Mississippi Valley and into the Great Lakes region in the next 24 to 36 hours.

Carla may lack some of the wind force which battered coastal Texas. However the moisture carried by the storm will result in heavy clouds and widespread showers and possible thunderstorms Wednesday.

Cooler and dry weather is expected to follow Thursday.

Temperatures this morning ranged from 66 at Toledo to 70 at Cincinnati, Dayton and Columbus.

Hurricane Tides Rout Rattlesnakes

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP)—This section of the upper Texas coast has another worry today other than Hurricane Carla.

Civil Defense Director Kirby Smith said a 10-foot tide caused Texas City, right across the bay from Galveston, to be flooded by Moses Lake—and with the floodwaters came the rattlesnakes.

"They're everywhere," Smith said. "my men say they are trying to climb up walls of homes while trying to get out of the water."

The director said evacuees will have to be extremely careful when they return to their homes.

Licking County Girl Hurt as Bus Rolls Over

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A 6-year old Licking County girl injured in a school bus accident north of here was reported in poor condition with a brain injury in Columbus' Children's Hospital today.

The girl, Jeanne Atherton of St. Louisville, was injured Monday when a county road shoulder crumbled and the bus overturned.

The girl was transferred from Newark Hospital to Children's Monday afternoon when it was learned her injury was serious.

It was first reported that none of the children were injured seriously.

Another passenger, Barbara Lambert, 9, also of St. Louisville, was in Newark Hospital in good condition today.

Twelve other children were treated for minor injuries.

The bus driver, Ronald Learn, said he was proceeding along a narrow road four miles north of here when the shoulder gave way.

The highway patrol is investigating the accident.

Jeanne and Barbara are pupils of Eden Elementary School.

The Show Will Go On

It is appropriate that the first performance of the Metropolitan Opera this year will be "Girl of the Golden West." For the Met has just been saved in true western style—in the nick of time when all seemed lost.

As it turned out, the reports of the demise of the 1961-62 opera season were "greatly exaggerated."

The doom-criers were wrong all along. The star performers, Birgit Nisson, Joan Sutherland, Leontyne Price, Richard Tucker, and such, are still available—surprise!—contrary to reports that they had made other commitments. Even foreign artists are found to be figuratively waiting in the wings.

So, let the basso-profundos and divas spray their throat passages and limber up the lung muscles. The show will go on. And who seriously doubted that it would?

By Pretense

Moscow says the big bomb it is talking about would pulverize the deepest raid shelters. This ends the pretense by Khrushchev that when he said "I will bury you," he meant communism would triumph over capitalism economically. Will Moscow next admit that when its emissaries were "negotiating" for nuclear test bans in Geneva for three years, they really were marking time so Russia could carry on secret underground tests?

He Shuns Million To Quit Job

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—What would you do if someone offered you a million dollars to quit what you were doing?

The chance came to film producer Samuel Bronston. He said, "No!"

Bronston had just begun shooting his picture, "King of Kings," when the representatives of another company which wished to make a film of the life of Christ—20th Century-Fox—approached him.

"They offered to pay all my expenses—and give me a cool million dollars besides if I'd abandon my project," recalled Bronston. "And this was only the beginning—they'd have gone higher. But I told them I couldn't quit."

"It seemed inhuman to me to give up. I had dreamed of making the life of Christ ever since I helped photograph art and religious treasures for the Vatican a dozen years ago."

"You're not always working just for money. Money is the consequence of deeds. You merely trade money for time to achieve your goals."

Bronston, one of nine children of a Bessarabian farmer, is a small, shy, voiced man with big ideas. He was graduated from the Sorbonne with a degree in political science, played the flute in the Paris Symphony Orchestra, and became one of Europe's top film salesman before turning to producing.

He poured $9 million into "King of Kings," spent another $9 million on "El Cid," both of which will be released this fall. He also has plans under way for three more epic productions totaling $18 million. His headquarters is in Madrid, where he has taken over most of Spain's two largest studios.

"I'm not equipped for small pictures," he said. "I am interested in big productions with international appeal."

Education Criticism

By George Sokolsky

Soon the schools and colleges will re-open and boys and girls will hurl themselves into work which is designed to build their careers, to form their characters, to improve them culturally. Our system of education has come in for very sharp criticism on several sides.

The humanists feel that our students get very little of the humanities, the eternal values of learning, during a four years' course. They feel that the youngsters are being robbed of their time, their money and their opportunities by an inadequate probing into the nearly 10,000 years of human culture which is available to them. Some regard the system of majors as unproductive of the best values that a college can provide.

On the other hand, many parents and employers complain that young people are graduated from our colleges and universities without any skills, any tools, any training in the acquirement of knowledge and the application of what they learned their life work. In a word, they feel that they are wasting their time.

Villagers of Gillan Cove, England, drove away some 50 whales which tried to invade that seacoast town's beaches. For awhile, though, things must have been pretty crowded.

There's no question that Glen Cove deserves the prize for the year's biggest fish story—but it certainly earned it the hard way.

The Sahara Desert, according to our office atlas, is some 3,000 miles wide. Maybe that's the place that oft-quoted governor of North Carolina had in mind when the said: "It's a long time between drinks."

Speaking of Africa—a news note tells of a Britcher heading there for a big game hunt who has taken along dinner jackets and black bow ties. Dressed fit to kill, eh?

Do you reckon, asks F. E. F., they'll call the first spaceman to reach the moon a Lunarduk?

Many of today's gambling games, according to an historian, were invented by the ancient Egyptians. Is that why asks Milt, the sterling printer, the Sphinx wears such a poker face?

LETTERS MAGAZINE printed this revealing exchange of notes between a patient's wife and the doctor who had been treating him.

1. Dear Doctor: My husband was for years the perfect mate and father. Since consulting you, however, he has become a hopeless gadabout, critical of my cooking, my housekeeping and our children, an ogre about bills, vain, arrogant and unfaithful. It is my belief that you have been giving him shots which have entirely changed his personality. Mrs. A. Jones.

2. Dear Mrs. Jones: In answer to your letter, I have not been giving your husband shots of any kind. I have simply had him fitted with contact lenses. Dr. Shalbe Nameless.

Even tiny babies shouldn't play with matches or lighters. Once a plaything, always a plaything!

For kitchen safety, use back burners first and turn pot handles toward the wall.

Don't let tablecloths dangle—especially when serving steamy coffee, tea or soup. What Baby can't reach, Baby can't spill.

Bumps and bruises! Alone and unwatched, babies often twist and wiggle off the edge of tables, beds or bathtubs. Yours won't—if you watch him.

Tape electric cords to the back of table legs. Dangling wires invite little hands to pull irons, toasters and radios down on little heads. Tip proof your floor lamps by sand-wiching lamp stems under cloth strips sewn to the back of a couch or easy chair.

Finger-proof latches on stairway gates, and a hook and eye outside each screen door keep Baby from tumbling down steps when Mom dashes out to the clothesline or mailbox.

Cuts and scratches! Stick open safety pins in a bar of soap out of Baby's reach. Soapy pins slide through diapers easily, too.

Sharp-pointed "toys" become dangerous weapons in little hands. Store scissors, knives and sharp tools in toddler-proof cabinets.

Suffocating! No pillows! Soft down can smother tiny faces. Plastics can be deadly!

So can discarded refrigerators if doors aren't removed! Front-loading washers make attractive traps, too.

Poisoning! Padlock all drugs, cosmetics and household cleaners. Even "innocent" aspirin kills! Toss out every outdated or unlabeled medicine.

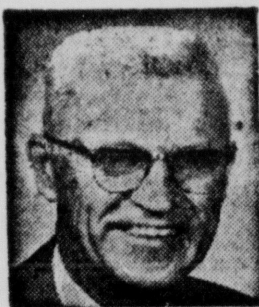

Tailor other safety measures to fit your needs.

Remember, growing children can spring shocking surprises—without poking their little fingers into unprotected wall sockets!

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—You can please one set of government officials if you'll just spend a little more money than you have been.

You can please another set if you'll save a little more of your money.

The same goes for private business. You have only to look at the ads or listen to the commercials to know that you can be a hero if you rush out and buy various items or if you put your savings into a long list of depositories, each keenly vying to get more of your dough.

And there's a third group eager to help you enjoy things now and pay later.

So whether you save or whether you spend or whether you borrow to spend, someone is going to love you.

And someone is going to praise you for doing the right thing by the nation and its economy. Each of the contenders for your money has some convincing reasons for its point of view.

Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges says what the economy really needs to get going as it should be for "people right now to spend at retail one percentage point more of their disposable income."

Consumer spending is running at around $336 billion a year. If that increased to $400 billion, the extra money would help the merchants and other retailers, the purveyors of services. This would work back to the makers of consumers goods, and in time to the producers of the materials that go into these goods.

At about the same time Hodges was noting what a little more spending by consumers would do for the economy, over in the Treasury Department they were tooting the horn for more saving—particularly more buying of U.S. Savings Bonds.

Counterfeit Ring Reported Smashed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two small lithograph presses and $15,000 in counterfeit $5 and $10 bills were seized by police Monday in a raid on the East Side home of a 40-year-old ex-convict.

Detectives said the bills were crude representations.

In the attic of the house on East 97th Street were engraved plates, paper cutters, one press and other counterfeiting equipment. Another press was found in a ramshackle garage.

Two men arrested trying to pass the phony bills in a restaurant led police to the place.

The ex-convict, who police said served time in Ohio Penitentiary on a narcotics charge, another occupant of the house and two visitors were arrested and held with the two men arrested at the restaurant.

The immediate slogan is that "buying U.S. Savings Bonds is a practical way for Americans to strengthen our nation's defensive power."

But the long-term pitch has been that buying and holding these bonds is a very practical way to save and plan for future needs.

Bankers and savings and loan associations urge you to save so that a reservoir of funds can be built up for investments.

So it seems the spenders are helping the economy grow and the savers are helping the economy grow.

Some persons will save all they can no matter how alluring the ads or compelling the exhortations from Washington.

Some persons will spend all they cash or credit, despite all the warnings about a rainy day or the needs for a reservoir for investment purposes.

And the great majority will go on, wishing they could save more after paying all the bills which seem to get bigger each month, wishing they could buy more for their families whose needs and desires seem to grow all the time, wishing—just wishing.

Californians Mourn Carrillo

Television's Pancho Dies at Age of 81

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Parades, kids, the acting profession and California's connections with its Spanish beginnings are poorer today. Leo Carrillo is dead.

"Mr. California" succumbed in his sleep Sunday in his Mexican-style canyon ranch home to eight years' ravages of cancer. His age, which Carrillo concealed and his smiling visor belied was a remarkable 81.

The actor underwent several operations, the latest two years ago, and became seriously ill again about six weeks ago. At the end, under heavy sedation, he briefly returned the handclasp of his ranch foreman, Jack Tolbert, then died—at 5:58 p.m.

Carrillo, whose forebears helped settle and govern early California, was an actor more than 55 years. His widest fame came as impish, sombrero-topped Pancho—grin gleaming, waxed mustache bristling—in television's Cisco Kid series.

Carrillo played sidekick to Duncan Renaldo in 156 Cisco films between 1949 and 1955. Children everywhere mobbed Leo for autographs. He always happily obliged.

Born in Los Angeles, Carrillo, earned college money at $1-a-day, pick-and-shovel in railroad construction along California's scenic coastline. He spoke five languages including Japanese and Chinese.

For a time he was a cartoonist and waterfront reporter at $10 a week for the San Francisco Examiner.

After vaudeville, touring stock companies and Broadway appearances, Carrillo appeared in hundreds of silent movies, short subjects and talkies and became typed as a hard-riding, straight-shooting Spaniard of the border days. His salary rose to $5,000 a week.

Carrillo's wife of 40 years, Edith died in 1953. His adopted daughter, Marie Antoinette Carrillo, was present when he died.

20 Hurt as Floor Of School Collapses

KOSSUTH, Miss. (AP) — The floor in an old building at Kossuth High School collapsed during recess Monday, injuring an estimated 20 persons.

Corinth Community Hospital reported it received 17 victims for treatment, but none was considered serious. Some of the students, the hospital said, would be hospitalized.

School sources said the collapse occurred in an old building being used until a new structure under construction is completed. The flooring apparently gave way beneath the weight of students and soft drink vending machines and tumbled several feet to the ground.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's an inexpensive, but not brainy, comfort to think that the pudgy man who talks peaceful coexistence is really a good guy being pushed by Kremlin tough guys into talking war and superbombs.

Nothing in the record bears out that notion which, from time to time, is floated like a dreamy balloon to explain the sudden and savage switches which occur in Premier Khrushchev.

He didn't become leader of the Communist pack by being a soft touch anytime for anybody. He had to claw his way to the top in a league whose philosophy is based on power and not on persuasion.

The world was shocked when Khrushchev suddenly ended the East-West agreement to forego nuclear tests. It didn't need to be Khrushchev had carefully laid the groundwork for just such a switch.

The only missing element in his decision was why he did it when he did.

Nor should his toughness on Berlin now be a surprise. He said three years ago he wanted the Allies out of Berlin and it had to be done. He said there would have to be a showdown this year and he's trying to make good on his threat.

Stalin looked tougher than Khrushchev. He was behind the Berlin blockade of 1948, the Communist guerrilla warfare in Greece, the pressure on Turkey, the seizure of Czechoslovakia, and, no doubt, the Korean War.

Stalin wasn't tougher, just more reckless. By the time Khrushchev took over, the United States and Russia both had the hydrogen bomb. So he had to be more careful.

But the two men's goals were the same—world domination. The only difference is tactics. A good example of why Khrushchev isn't being pressured by Kremlinites more belligerent than himself is in the nuclear test suspensions.

When President Eisenhower in 1958 suspended American nuclear testing, there were some who thought the United States should not stop. You can be sure there was a difference of opinion in Russia when Khrushchev said he was suspending his tests the

Gen. Walker Says Report Is 'Unusual'

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — Maj. Gen. Edward A. Walker says release of a military investigation report that refers to him as "eccentric" among other things is "very unusual."

Walker, former commander of the 24th Infantry Division in West Germany, was officially admonished after an investigation of a troop education and indoctrination program he sponsored.

Some congressmen have said he was disciplined because he was a zealous anti-Communist.

The Army report described Walker as "a sincere, deeply religious, patriotic soldier and went on to say:

"He is an eccentric and is not only violently anti-Communist but has been for years working at it with a passion, studying, lecturing and reading all literature available on the subject."

The report listed the general as a member of the militantly conservative John Birch Society.

Walker said in a statement Sunday that pending an investigation of the report he cannot answer the question whether he was a member of the society.

Walker, now assigned to the Army's European headquarters here, said he had not seen the report but was told he would be furnished one.

Cleveland Idle Pay Claims Drop Sharply

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nearly 6,000 claimants have left the unemployment compensation rolls here in the last five weeks, and the total of 17,038 claims last week is the lowest in 14 months, Mark McCollough, Bureau of Unemployment claims analyst, reported Monday.

By James Marlow

same year, too.

In January 1960, Khrushchev said Russia would not resume the tests unless the "Western powers resume them." In Khrushchev's mind the Western powers, assist turned out, included France which was then preparing to test.

A little more than a month later—on Feb. 13, 1960—France had its first atomic test in the Sahara. Immediately the Russian news agency, Tass, laid down what was to become the Soviet excuse for resuming its own tests.

"If nuclear explosions should continue, the Soviet government will, naturally, not be able to overlook it and fail to draw the proper conclusions for its own security," Tass said.

The Associated Press reported last May 15 that the American and British representatives, then negotiating with the Russians in Geneva on a permanent test ban, "were not greatly impressed by the threat of resumed Soviet testing."

But Khrushchev meant business, as he proved. Just as some of President Kennedy's advisers thought the United States should resume testing in the atmosphere, it can be taken for granted some of Khrushchev's advisers thought Russia should.

This record doesn't indicate that Kremlinites ganged up on Khrushchev to make him change his mind about suspending atmospheric tests. The only question is why did he do it when he did, during the Berlin crisis.

A good guess is that he decided it was good strategy to show the West he meant business on Berlin and, if possible, terrorize the Allies into yielding to him.

British Pay $18 For Church Fence Burned by Redcoats

LONDON (AP)—Britain's chancellor of the exchequer has sent a check for the equivalent of $18 to a Philadelphia minister who billed him for a church fence burned by Redcoats nearly 184 years ago.

But the chancellor, Selwyn Lloyd, told the minister, the Rev. Joseph Koci Jr., the correct place for him to seek compensation was the U.S. government or the State of Pennsylvania.

The Rev. Mr. Koci, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal church in the City of Brotherly Love, lodged his claim with Lloyd last month for destruction of the fence, used as firewood by British troops.

He priced the fence at $18, but said interests over all the years now amounts to $756,000.

Lausche Opposes World Fair Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, warned Senate leaders today he will fight spending any federal money to assist the 1964 65 International Fair in New York.

Lausche said backers of the fair want the government to put up $30 million for a big building on the fair grounds.

To grant the request, he said, would be a "breach of commitment."

In a Senate speech Lausche said Congress approved New York as the site of the fair with the understanding that no federal expenditures would be involved. Washington, D. C., also had bid for it. Now, Lausche said, a resolution is pending in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee proposing a study of requests for federal aid.

Newport Solon
Is Irked by
'Do-Gooders'

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—A recent reform movement that resulted in part in two grand jury probes and a special governor's hearing have drawn the ire of Clem Reker in announcing for Newport city commissioner.

Reker said Sunday night he also questioned the sincerity of an anti-bingo movement which "has temporarily deprived a number of our best citizens of the innocent pastime of playing a game of bingo, not to mention the loss of revenue of our most worthy institutions which will otherwise be compelled to toss back to the public a good portion of their financial obligations."

Reker assailed what he called "do-gooders" and said he was "challenging the present tidal wave of criticism and ill advised trend of a faction of citizens who have been sold on the idea that Newport needs a thorough job of house cleaning and moral uplift, an ideal originated by a group of do-gooders who reside mostly in nearby cities."

He said the city recently spent much for schools, slum clearance and a new waterworks.

"In Newport there are new churches attended regularly by thousands of parishioners and who seem to be prospering contrary to the claims and accusations of the minority," Reker said.

He said voters should stick to government by men of proven ability rather than taking a chance on inexperienced candidates.

Family Dinner Is Observed By Nelsons

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nelson, Northridge Road, observed their 50th Wedding Anniversary Sunday with a family dinner at the Pickaway Arms.

Guests for the anniversary dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nelson Jr. and daughters Susan, Marian, Jane and Nancy, Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodson and son, Nelson, Dayton; and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Rutzahn and daughter, Judy, 946 Circle Drive.

Several friends called at the Nelson home during the day.

Soloqua Club Members at Convention

Mrs. C. W. Hedges, Mrs. Harry Trump and Mrs. James Hott, members of the Soloqua Garden Club, Ashville, attended a two-day session of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs convention held at the Ohio University campus in Athens, Sept. 7 and 8.

Monday Club in First Meet; New Officers Are Installed

The Monday Club observed its first meeting of the year yesterday evening in the trustees' room of the Memorial Hall. New officers of the club were installed.

Mrs. Clark Will conducted the business session, followed by the treasurer's report by Mrs. Karl Drum.

Mrs. Will presented the president's gavel to the new head of the group, Miss Mary K. May. Other new officers for the year are: Mrs. George Barnes, first vice president; Mrs. Frank Marion, second vice president; Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, recording secretary; Mrs. S. M. Cryder, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Karl Drum, treasurer; and Mrs. Anna Chandler, historian.

Exhibits of painting and sewing were displayed by Mrs. Edwin Bach Jr.

An interesting paper entitled, "Buckeye Tales" was given by Mrs. Defenbaugh.

She stated that on January 8, 1961, the observance of the 100th anniversary of the Civil War began. January 8 was selected because the firing on Fort Sumter is generally recognized as the opening of the conflict.

During the four years of observance of this centennial, a great many tales and legends concerning the Buckeye State in the Civil War will be revived; some conflicting, but nevertheless, most interesting.

Professor Harry Williams, of Louisiana State University, recently stated in a series of lectures on the Civil War that no other war has brought so much fraternizing between enemies. There are many accounts of soldiers visiting back and forth across the lines.

An interesting example of fraternizing took place when members of the Third Ohio Regiment were prisoners. They were given coffee, cornbread and bacon by the 54th Virginia Regiment. Later the Ohio unit returned the kindness.

The war between Americans probably saw more espionage than any in our history. Reading about the war today, students are astonished at the ease with which agents made their way through the opposition's territory.

Women of the period were no less than terrific. Treason seemed to enhance their beauty. Men operators were hanged but women received only threats or short prison terms, then were liberated to try again.

The "Moon Sisters" were probably the South's most authentic sister spy act. They came from a prominent Virginian family, but since they lived at Oxford, O., and have been established as two of our most colorful figures, we include them in our "Buckeye Tales". Miss Ginnie and Miss Lotie were women of the new day born in the old.

These women delivered many messages and drugs to the South. Even though their disloyalty was well known, records show that no action was ever taken against them.

In the cemetery at Groveport, O., a plain white shaft marked simply "Rarey" denotes a man from our early history whose continued triumphs in horse training led him to publish a book on his methods, that became the official training procedure of the U.S. Army from 1862, the Civil War, until the advent of the army jeep.

John Rarey was born in 1827 and when he was 12 years old, tamed a thorough-bred colt known for its wildness. As the years passed, the "Rarey" legend grew.

Sir Edmund Head, the Governor of Canada, requested a demonstration of Rarey's horse training. Later Rarey made an appearance before the royal family in London for a series of demonstrations.

He was challenged to try his art on the infamous "Wild Cruiser". Out of this triumph grew a friendship which was eternally assured when Rarey returned to Ohio in 1858 bringing the stallion with him.

A painting of "Cruiser" and John Rarey is on display at the Ohio State Museum, Columbus. By way of mention, this is the origin of the Groveport High School's athletic team name, "Cruisers".

Mrs. Defenbaugh continued to say that the group would be hearing more of the Civil War during the remainder of the Centennial.

She closed her splendid talk on the "Buckeye Tales", by quoting a Columbus writer who said, "The Civil War is a little like chess, if you know anything at all about it, people are inclined to think you are an expert."

Pythian Sisters of Ashville Conduct First Fall Meeting

The Pythian Sisters of Ashville Temple No. 366 met in the KoP Hall for their first meeting of the fall.

Most Excellent Chief, Billie Campbell, presided during the business meeting. Plans were made for the annual Grand Temple Convention in Cleveland September 27-30.

Francine Peters will be installed as the Grand Chief of O. at this session. A degree staff of 32 members from Ashville Temple will assist in the installation.

The Temple is chartering two buses to go to Cleveland Sept. 30 for the installation, to be held in the Sheraton Hotel that afternoon. Ashville members or other persons interested in going by bus are asked to contact Billie Campbell or Marilyn Sabine.

Tentative plans were made for the Grand Chief's reception to be held October 21 in the Ashville High School Auditorium.

Birthday cards and handkerchiefs were presented to Jill Reese, Hatti Rife, Marilyn Sabine,

Guild 38 To Meet

Berger Hospital Guild No. 38 will conduct its first fall meeting at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Merle Turner, Jr., 1169 Lone Pine Road.

Pearl Fortner, Vivian Hickman, Rosemary Young and Arlene Fortner. These sisters celebrated birthdays in July and August.

The Past Chief's Club will meet Thursday in the KP Hall at 6:30 p. m.

Refreshments were served to 25 members by Nancy Zwyer, Mildred Messick, Ethel Plum and Sharon Martin.

Democratic Club Schedules Meeting

The Pickaway County Democratic Women's Club will meet 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Probate Courtroom in the Courthouse.

WCTU Convention Slated Friday

The 71st Annual Convention of the Pickaway County WCTU units will be an event Friday at the Five Points Methodist Church.

The all day meeting will get underway at 10:30 a. m. with a covered dish luncheon.

The afternoon session will feature a talk by Mrs. H. H. Brown, state chairman of the WCTU.

Some cooks like to use water-ground white cornmeal as a dip before fish before pan-frying them.

Dinner Marks Anniversary, Birthday Fetes

A birthday and anniversary dinner was a special occasion recently in the home of Clyde Sheets, Route 1.

Honored were the birthdays of Melvin Stanley, Steven Fausnaugh, Brenda Adkins, Marietta Knece and Gladys Sheets. Also observed were the anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Fausnaugh and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Knece.

Attending were Mrs. Dorothy Fausnaugh and Stan, Roger and Gloria, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fausnaugh and children James, Donald and Gloria, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fausnaugh and sons Steven and Danny, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fausnaugh and son, Gary, Mr. and Mrs. George Adkins and daughters, Sheryl, Pam and Brenda, Mrs. Gladys Sheets, Kenneth and Roger Adkins and Paul Hill, all of Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Fausnaugh and Mike and Susan of Heath, O.; and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Knece and son, Larry, Darbyville.

Games were enjoyed by all in the afternoon.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail Van Buren

Reverse Twist!

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am small, but I have a question to ask. Don't you think a woman who claims to be a good friend should entertain her "good friends" in her living room? Whenever I visit this person she leads me right to the kitchen! She puts the coffee pot on and we sit there all during my stay. She has a lovely home, a beautiful coffee service and gorgeous dishes, but all I ever see is her kitchen and her everyday dishes. Am I wrong?

INSULTED
DEAR INSULTED: No. Your friend was wrong to assume that you were a person with whom she could be herself without fuss or frills. You should feel flattered, not insulted.

Ashville Women's Civic Unit Holds Session in Deal Home

The Ashville Women's Civic Club met in the home of Mrs. Art Deal Jr., St. Paul Road, for a first fall meeting. Twenty-one members and eight guests were in attendance.

Mrs. Thomas Purcell, president, welcomed the group and introduced the following guests: Mrs. William Wharton, Mrs. Harold Richards, Mrs. James McCord, Mrs. Richard Longacre, Mrs. Robert Sliwinski, Mrs. Mary Pierce, Mrs. Donald Welsh and Mrs. Stanley Beckett. Mrs. Richards and Mrs. McCord were welcomed as new members.

Application blanks for membership were accepted from Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Welsh, and Mrs. Sliwinski. They will be welcomed as new members at the October meeting to be held at the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. in Columbus on October 5, when Betty Newton will demonstrate "Dinner on the Double."

Mrs. Donald Flierl gave devotions. The group, accompanied by Mrs. Roland Featheringham on the old fashioned pump organ, sang, "America, the Beautiful."

Mrs. Felix Dore, program chairman, introduced Miss Margaret Shirey who attended Girl's State this past summer at Capital University, Columbus. She spoke of her experiences at Girl's State. Miss Nelle Oesterle, a guidance leader at Girl's State, also spoke briefly.

Miss Marty Dore, recipient of the Women's Civic Club Scholarship, thanked the club for choosing her to receive the annual award. She enters Capital University this fall.

Jody and Jim Deal played several selections on the piano. Following the meeting, guests were served from a dining table centered with an arrangement of pink gladiolas and white daisies with pink burning tapers. Mrs. Purcell served at the punch bowl. Punch, cookies, nuts and mints

Melody Shea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Shea, 1015 Sunshine St., has returned to Heidelberg College, Tiffin. She is a sophomore.

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with our Daddy? Our mother passed away last April. After the funeral I went back home, as I am married. My brother went back to college. When we came back, almost six months later, we found all of Mamma's clothes, shoes, hats, and purses just like she was on a visit somewhere and was coming back to wear them. We would feel better if Daddy cleaned out the drawers and closets and got rid of these sad reminders. Should we tell Daddy to do this? He feels bad enough, and we hate to make him feel worse.

JEAN AND JOE
DEAR JEAN AND JOE: For the moment, don't say anything. Your Daddy might decide soon himself that he wants to get rid of the reminders. If a year passes, and nothing is moved, suggest Mamma's room be painted another color, and her things given to someone who can get some good use out of them. If he resists your suggestions—don't press it.

"Are things rough?" Let Abby help you solve your problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send to Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Monday Club in First Meet;
New Officers Are Installed

The Monday Club observed its first meeting of the year yesterday evening in the trustees' room of the Memorial Hall. New officers of the club were installed.

Mrs. Clark Will conducted the business session, followed by the treasurer's report by Mrs. Karl Drum.

Mrs. Will presented the president's gavel to the new head of the group, Miss Mary K. May. Other new officers for the year are: Mrs. George Barnes, first vice president; Mrs. Frank Marion, second vice president; Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, recording secretary; Mrs. S. M. Cryder, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Karl Drum, treasurer; and Mrs. Anna Chandler, historian.

Exhibits of painting and sewing were displayed by Mrs. Edwin Bach Jr.

An interesting paper entitled, "Buckeye Tales" was given by Mrs. Defenbaugh.

She stated that on January 8, 1961, the observance of the 100th anniversary of the Civil War began. January 8 was selected because the firing on Fort Sumter is generally recognized as the opening of the conflict.

During the four years of observance of this centennial, a great many tales and legends concerning the Buckeye State in the Civil War will be received; some conflicting, but nevertheless, most interesting.

Professor Harry Williams, of Louisiana State University, recently stated in a series of lectures on the Civil War that no other war has brought so much fraternizing between enemies. There are many accounts of soldiers visiting back and forth across the lines.

An interesting example of fraternizing took place when members of the Third Ohio Regiment were prisoners. They were given coffee, cornbread and bacon by the 54th Virginia Regiment. Later the Ohio unit returned the kindness.

The war between Americans probably saw more espionage than any in our history. Reading about the war today, students are astonished at the ease with which agents made their way through the opposition's territory.

Women of the period were no less than terrific. Treason seemed to enhance their beauty. Men operators were hanged but women received only threats or short prison terms, then were liberated to try again.

The "Moon Sisters" were probably the South's most authentic sister spy act. They came from a prominent Virginian family, but since they lived at Oxford, O., and have been established as two of our most colorful figures, we include them in our "Buckeye Tales". Miss Ginnie and Miss Lotie were women of the new day born in the old.

These women delivered many messages and drugs to the South. Even though their disloyalty was well known, records show that no action was ever taken against them.

In the cemetery at Groveport, O., a plain white shaft marked simply "Raney" denotes a man from our early history whose continued triumphs in horse training led him to publish a book on his methods, that became the official training procedure of the U.S. Army from 1862, the Civil War, until the advent of the army jeep.

John Raney was born in 1827 and when he was 12 years old, tamed a thorough-bred colt known for its wildness. As the years passed, the "Raney" legend grew.

Sir Edmund Head, the Governor of Canada, requested a demonstration of Raney's horse training. Later Raney made an appearance before the royal family in London for a series of demonstrations.

He was challenged to try his art on the infamous "Wild Cruiser". Out of this triumph grew a friendship which was eternally assured when Raney returned to Ohio in 1858 bringing the stallion with him.

A painting of "Cruiser" and John Raney is on display at the Ohio State Museum, Columbus. By way of mention, this is the origin of the Groveport High School's athletic team name, "Cruisers".

Mrs. Defenbaugh continued to say that the group would be hearing more of the Civil War during the remainder of the Centennial.

She closed her splendid talk on the "Buckeye Tales", by quoting a Columbus writer who said, "The Civil War is a little like chess, if you know anything at all about it, people are inclined to think you are an expert."

Mrs. Thomas Purcell, president, welcomed the group and introduced the following guests: Mrs. William Wharton, Mrs. Harold Richards, Mrs. James McCord, Mrs. Richard Longacre, Mrs. Robert Slivinski, Mrs. Mary Pierce, Mrs. Donald Welsh and Mrs. Stanley Beckett. Mrs. Richards and Mrs. McCord were welcomed as new members.

Application blanks for membership were accepted from Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Welsh, and Mrs. Slivinski. They will be welcomed as new members at the October meeting to be held at the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. in Columbus on October 5, when Betty Newton will demonstrate "Dinner on the Double."

Mrs. Donald Flierl gave devotions. The group, accompanied by Mrs. Rolland Featheringham on the old fashioned pump organ, sang, "America, the Beautiful."

Mrs. Felix Dore, program chairman, introduced Miss Margaret Shirey who attended Girl's State this past summer at Capital University, Columbus. She spoke of her experiences at Girl's State, Miss Nelle Oesterle, a guidance leader at Girl's State, also spoke briefly.

Miss Mary Dore, recipient of the Women's Civic Club Scholarship, thanked the club for choosing her to receive the annual award. She enters Capital University this fall.

Jody and Jim Deal played several selections on the piano.

Following the meeting, guests were served from a dining table centered with an arrangement of pink gladiolas and white daisies with pink burning tapers. Mrs. Purcell served at the punch bowl. Punch, cookies, nuts and mints

Pythian Sisters of Ashville
Conduct First Fall Meeting

The Pythian Sisters of Ashville Temple No. 366 met in the KofP Hall for their first meeting of the fall.

Most Excellent Chief, Billie Campbell, presided during the business meeting. Plans were made for the annual Grand Temple Convention in Cleveland September 27-30.

Francine Peters will be installed as the Grand Chief of Ohio at this session. A degree staff of 32 members from Ashville Temple will assist in the installation.

The Temple is chartering two buses to go to Cleveland Sept. 30 for the installation, to be held in the Sheraton Hotel that afternoon. Ashville members or other persons interested in going by bus are asked to contact Billie Campbell or Marilyn Sabine.

Tentative plans were made for the Grand Chief's reception to be held October 21 in the Ashville High School Auditorium. Birthday cards and handkerchiefs were presented to Jill Roese, Hatti Rife, Marilyn Sabine.

Reverse Twist!

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am small, but I have a question to ask. Don't you think a woman who claims to be a good friend should entertain her "good friends" in her living room? Whenever I visit this person she leads me right to the kitchen!

She puts the coffee pot on and we sit there all during my stay. She has a lovely home, a beautiful coffee service and gorgeous dishes, but all I ever see is her kitchen and her everyday dishes. Am I wrong?

INSULTED
DEAR INSULTED: No. Your friend was wrong to assume that you were a person with whom she could be herself without fuss or frills. You should feel flattered,

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: I would like to point out to MRS. CITIZEN, who thinks our country is going to the dogs, because our teen-age girls try to look older, that this is not nearly so offensive as some of our big, fat, gray-haired old women who appear in public with bare backs, skin-tight Capri pants, and shorts so short they disappear when the women sit down. When mothers (and grandmothers) start dressing their age, perhaps our teen-agers will have an example worth following.

C.S.M.

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with our Daddy? Our mother passed away last April. After the funeral I went back home, as I am married. My brother went back to college. When we came back, almost six months later, we found all of Mamma's clothes, shoes, hats, and purses just like she was on a visit somewhere and was coming back to wear them. We would feel better if Daddy cleaned out the drawers and closets and got rid of these sad reminders. Should we tell Daddy to do this? He feels bad enough, and we hate to make him feel worse.

DEAR JEAN AND JOE: For the moment, don't say anything. Your Daddy might decide soon himself that he wants to get rid of the reminders. If a year passes, and nothing is moved, suggest Mamma's room be painted another color, and her things given to someone who can get some good use out of them. If he resists your suggestions—don't press it.

"Are things rough?" Let Abby help you solve your problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send to Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

WEIGHING HIS FUTURE IN SPORTS—Star all-around athlete at Brookland-Cayce High School in West Columbia, S.C., Mike Derrick, 17, weighs his future in baseball or football and comes up with baseball as he signs a bonus contract with the Pirates. He's an outfielder but also was a high school back of the year and had planned to go to the University of South Carolina on a football scholarship.

Tiger Reserves Rip Broncos 20-8 in Opening Grid Contest

Circleville High School's reserve football Tigers displayed the same sort of highpowered offense their elder varsity brethren have used as they drubbed Ashville's reserve unit 20-8 yesterday on the CHS field.

The junior Bengals had to overcome a persistent Bronco offense in gaining the win in the season's opener. Ashville counted the only points in the first quarter when Ed Neal and Ken Roese pulled down Charles Martin in the endzone for a safety worth two markers.

Right halfback Bruce Horn started the Tigers on the winning way as he punched up the middle for six yards and paydirt in the second quarter. The try for extra points was blocked and Circleville led 6-2 at the half.

Dave Bass, CHS quarterback, boosted his team's margin to 12-2 shortly after the second half kickoff with a one-yard plunge over the goal line.

AFTER THE two squads battled back and forth through the rest of the third period, Gary Betts stepped into high and fancy gear in the opening moments of the fourth quarter blasting his way through Bronco defenders for a 48-yard touchdown romp.

Tom Copland and Dave Bass opened the field for the swift-footed Betts with two key blocks and the score read 20-2 for the hosts.

Rick Allen, Ashville's starter at right half, pulled off the day's most spectacular run in the game's waning minutes, galloping 76 yards on a kickoff return for the loser's only six-point tally. Circleville's defense proved a solid wall as the clock edged to zero and a final Bronco drive faltered.

In the offensive lineup for the winners were England and Smith (le); Fletcher and Eitel (lt); Purcell and G. Smith (lg); Hatcher and Tomerson (c); Copland and J. Tootle (rg); Barr and Hickey (rt); Dresbach and Ford (re); T. Tootle and Bass (qb); Betts and List (lb); Helwagon and Fausnaugh (fb); and Horn and Martin (rh).

Pulso, Runkle, Wilson, Roese, McCoy, Fortner, Smith, Neal, C. Cummins, Allen, J. Cummins, Kuhlwein and Griffith played for Ashville.

Jinx Clubs Slated To Meet Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP)—The league-leading Cincinnati Reds face one of their most galling jinxes in the National League tonight — the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs may be in seventh place, but for the Reds—with the pennant in sight — they're pure poison.

The Reds have won only seven games from the Cubs—the last one late in July—while Chicago has pounded out 12 victories over Cincinnati.

The teams meet once more this year, Sept. 26 in Chicago. A decision on the pennant winner could go that far.

However, if the Reds divide their last 13 games 7-6, the second place Los Angeles Dodgers would have to take 14 of their remaining 19 contests for even a tie.

The University of North Dakota will meet the University of Nebraska and Youngstown University on the gridiron for the first time this fall.

U.S. Tennis Team Ready To Test India

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Davis Cup brass stopped worrying about Australia and Italy today and turned their attention to India, a more immediate problem.

The United States must meet India, winner of the Eastern Zone, in New Delhi, probably on Sept. 29-30-Oct. 1 for the right to go against European Zone champion Italy Oct. 13-15.

Down through the years, when the United States has not held the cup, shooting past the Eastern Zone winner was regarded as a mere formality en route to the challenge round.

But conditions have changed. The United States wanted to play India on clay in Houston, Tex. India wanted New Delhi. So under Davis Cup rules, the problem was placed in the hands of the reigning champion, Australia. A toss of a coin was made and India won.

The United States wanted to play on clay because Tut Bartzten, Americas No. 2 player, is at his best on hard surfaces. U.S. cup Capt. David Fred now is faced with the task of getting together a team that not only is capable but available. Chuck McKinley, his No. 1 player, isn't sure he can get away from his studies at Trinity College (Tex.).

Dennis Ralston, No. 2, is under suspension until Jan. 1. Don Dell, Whitney Red and Jon Douglas are possibilities for the squad.

A Split Decision

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Frank Howard, who doubles as football coach and athletic director at Clemson College, told an alumni meeting that he dropped Virginia, loser of its last 23 football games and replaced the Cavaliers with powerful Auburn this year.

Said Howard: "Gentlemen, that was the athletic director making that move. No coach in his right mind would have done that."

Defending Amateur Golf King Narrowly Averts Early Loss

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) —Defending champion Deane Beman skidded through his opening test only to run into tougher Billy Joe Patton today in the second round of the National Amateur Golf Tournament.

Beman, 23, insurance man from Arlington, Va., narrowly missed becoming No. 1 upset victim of this event before turning back Harry Aiers, 21, of Lake Wales, Fla., 1-up on the tricky and treacherous Pebble Beach course.

Happy-go-lucky Patton of Morganton, N.C., playing in his 11th U.S. Amateur, drew a bye and watched the first-round action over the par 36-72 course on the edge of the Pacific Ocean.

Beman led 4-up at the end of nine holes but the lead was cut to one by the end of the 14th after he ran into troubles and began spraying the shots. If Aiers hadn't missed an 18-inch putt at the 11th, the match could have gone into extra holes.

Seventy-two first-round winners joined 56 who had byes to make up today's second round of 128.

Failing to reach it were John Farquhar of Amarillo, Tex., and Charles Lewis of Little Rock, Ark. both semifinalists last year; Bill Hyndman, the Walker Cup player from Philadelphia; and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W.Va., three times a Walker Cup competitor.

Farquhar fell before Dick Lotz, 18, of San Lorenzo, Calif., 3 and 1, while Campbell was eliminated by Andy Gard, of Wellesley Hills, Mass., 1-up. Hyndman lost 1 up to Dick Davies, of Pasadena, Calif.

Today Lotz goes against C. A. Smith III of Jackson, Mich., who advanced via bye. Gard faces Dud Wyson, Jr., of McKenney, Tex., who also didn't play Monday, while Davies goes against Harton Semple of Sewickley, Pa., a 5 and 4 victor over Pandell Savie of Columbus, Ohio.

Ex-champions Jack Nicklaus, the Ohio State husky who won the 1959 title as a 19-year-old, and two-time winner Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City see their first action today. Nicklaus faces Dr. Donald Krieger of Portland, Ore. Coe, champion in 1949 and 1958, meets John Nichols of Downey, Calif.

Ex-champs advancing via victories were Harvie Ward of San Francisco, downing Vanderbilt student George Creagh 5 and 4, and Congressman Jack Westland of Everett, Wash., who beat Canadian Keith Alexander by the safe margin.

Chick Evans, 71, Chicago veteran playing his 49th national tournament and winner in 1916 and 1920, lost his match 5 and 4 to former University of Illinois football and golf star, Jim McCarthy.

Washington C.H. Colt Wins Lebanon Feature

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Valiant's First won the featured race at Lebanon Raceway Monday night by three lengths going away.

The 3-year-old bay colt from the Belle Aire Farm of Washington Court House paced off his best mile of the year in 2:06 1-5. He returned $430. Runner-up Leo's First was worth $4.80, and Elyn Sampson paid $6.40.

Notre Dame assistant coach Brad Lynn is a former special agent of the FBI.

Browns To Cut Squad to 36 Men

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two players were due to be cut today, bringing the Cleveland Browns roster within the National Football League limit of 36.

Halfback Billy Fautz was a good bet to be one of the dismissed players. The rookie from Texas Christian has been facing rough competition in the defensive backfield where five players are back from last season.

The other cut appeared likely at offensive tackle, where Mike McCormack, Dick Schaffrath, Lou Groza, Jim Marshall and Ed Nutting have been vying for the job. Marshall and Nutting lack experience.

Jinx Clubs Slated To Meet Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP)—The league-leading Cincinnati Reds face one of their most galling jinxes in the National League tonight — the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs may be in seventh place, but for the Reds—with the pennant in sight — they're pure poison.

The Reds have won only seven games from the Cubs—the last one late in July—while Chicago has pounded out 12 victories over Cincinnati.

The teams meet once more this year, Sept. 26 in Chicago. A decision on the pennant winner could go that far.

However, if the Reds divide their last 13 games 7-6, the second place Los Angeles Dodgers would have to take 14 of their remaining 19 contests for even a tie.

The University of North Dakota will meet the University of Nebraska and Youngstown University on the gridiron for the first time this fall.

U.S. Tennis Team Ready To Test India

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Davis Cup brass stopped worrying about Australia and Italy today and turned their attention to India, a more immediate problem.

The United States must meet India, winner of the Eastern Zone, in New Delhi, probably on Sept. 29-30-Oct. 1 for the right to go against European Zone champion Italy Oct. 13-15.

Down through the years, when the United States has not held the cup, shooting past the Eastern Zone winner was regarded as a mere formality en route to the challenge round.

But conditions have changed. The United States wanted to play India on clay in Houston, Tex. India wanted New Delhi. So under Davis Cup rules, the problem was placed in the hands of the reigning champion, Australia. A toss of a coin was made and India won.

The United States wanted to play on clay because Tut Bartzan, Americas No. 2 player, is at his best on hard surfaces. U.S. cup Capt. David Fred now is faced with the task of getting together a team that not only is capable but available. Chuck McKinley, his No. 1 player, isn't sure he can get away from his studies at Trinity College (Tex.).

Dennis Ralston, No. 2, is under suspension until Jan. 1. Don Dell, Whitney Red and Jon Douglas are possibilities for the squad.

A Split Decision

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Frank Howard, who doubles as football coach and athletic director at Clemson College, told an alumni meeting that he dropped Virginia, loser of its last 28 football games and replaced the Cavaliers with powerful Auburn this year.

Said Howard: "Gentlemen, that was the athletic director making that move. No coach in his right mind would have done that."

Defending Amateur Golf King Narrowly Averts Early Loss

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) —Defending champion Deane Beman skidded through his opening test only to run into tougher Billy Joe Patton today in the second round of the National Amateur Golf Tournament.

Beman, 23, insurance man from Arlington, Va., narrowly missed becoming No. 1 upset victim of this event before turning back Harry Alers, 21, of Lake Wales, Fla., 1-up on the tricky and treacherous Pebble Beach course.

Happy-go-lucky Patton of Morganton, N.C., playing in his 11th U.S. Amateur, drew a bye and watched the first-round action over the par 36-36-72 course on the edge of the Pacific Ocean.

Beman led 4-up at the end of nine holes but the lead was cut to one by the end of the 14th after he ran into troubles and began spraying the shots. If Alers hadn't missed an 18-inch putt at the 11th, the match could have gone into extra holes.

Seventy-two first-round winners joined 56 who had byes to make up today's second round of 128.

Failing to reach it were John Farquhar of Amarillo, Tex., and Charles Lewis of Little Rock, Ark. both semifinalists last year; Bill Hyndman, the Walker Cup player from Philadelphia; and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W.Va., three times a Walker Cup competitor.

Farquhar fell before Dick Lotz, 18, of San Lorenzo, Calif., 3 and 1, while Campbell was eliminated by Andy Gard, of Wellesley Hills, Mass., 1-up. Hyndman lost 1 up to Dick Davies, of Pasadena, Calif.

Today Lotz goes against C. A. Smith III of Jackson, Mich., who advanced via bye. Gard faces Dud Wysong, Jr., of McKinney, Tex., who also didn't play Monday, while Davies goes against Harton Semple of Sewickley, Pa., a 5 and 4 victor over Pandell Savic of Columbus, Ohio.

Ex-champions Jack Nicklaus, the Ohio State husky who won the 1959 title as a 19-year-old, and two-time winner Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City see their first action today. Nicklaus faces Dr. Donald Krieger of Portland, Ore. Coe, champion in 1949 and 1958, meets John Nichols of Downey, Calif.

Ex-champs advancing via victories were Harvie Ward of San Francisco, downing Vanderbilt student George Creagh 5 and 4, and Congressman Jack Westland of Everett, Wash., who beat Canadian Keith Alexander by the safe margin.

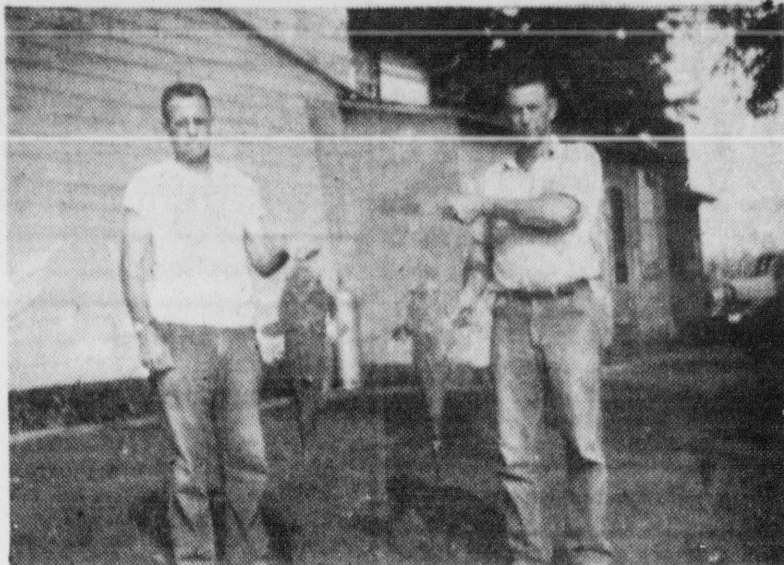

Chick Evans, 71, Chicago veteran playing his 49th national tournament and winner in 1916 and 1920, lost his match 5 and 4 to former University of Illinois football and golf star, Jim McCarthy.

Washington C.H. Colt Wins Lebanon Feature

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Valiant's First won the featured race at Lebanon Raceway Monday night by three lengths going away.

The 3-year-old bay colt from the Belle Aire Farm of Washington Court House paced off his best mile of the year in 2:06 1-5. He returned $4.30. Runner-up Leo's First was worth $4.80, and Ellyn Sampson paid $6.40.

Notre Dame assistant coach Brad Lynn is a former special agent of the FBI.

DARBY DIVIDENDS — George Whaley, Route 1, and Richard Whaley, S. Clinton St., cousins, proudly display part of results of an all-night fishing expedition at Darby Creek Saturday. George (left) holds a 12-pound shovelhead catfish while Richard's tipped the scales at seven pounds. The men worked from a boat while 11 other relatives fished on shore. They also hooked a number of little ones and plan to go soon again.

Ross County Hosts Horseshoe Tourney

Central Ohio peg shot experts will be perfecting their favorite toses this week in preparation for a mammoth horseshoe tournament set for the Ross County Fairgrounds September 16 and 17.

Qualifying opened yesterday for the wide-open pitchoff and will continue through Friday from 5 to 9 p. m. each day. Tourney officials said anyone is invited to enter the competition.

In the finals, four competitive classes will be established with three trophies to be awarded in each division.

Class C and D title rounds will open at 10 a. m. Saturday on the Ross exposition grounds. The fiercely-contested A and B championships will be determined in matches beginning 10 a. m. Sunday.

Interviews with 73,436 Homemakers* Told Us Why

MOST WOMEN WANT GAS RANGES

★ ★ ★ WHAT WOMEN SAID ★ ★ ★

1. GAS COOKING IS EASIER

"9 times out of ten, a pot starts to boil over just when I'm busiest. But with my gas range, I don't have to pick up the pot. I simply turn off the heat."

2. GAS IS FASTER

"When baby's screaming for a bottle, I want heat right now—not two minutes from now."

3. GAS COOKS BETTER

"My family loves homemade bread and I wouldn't think of baking with anything but a gas range."

4. GAS SAVES MONEY

"We've never had one repair on our range, and it's cheaper to cook with, too."

5. GAS IS MORE ACCURATE

"I haven't had to worry about custard curdling, or sauce separating, because I can turn the flame as low as I like."

6. GAS COOKING'S CLEANER

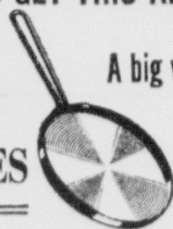

"I love being able to broil a steak without the house filling up with smoke."

with ALEX MORRISON
Teacher of Champions

Butch Baird, 24-year-old sophomore pro from Beaumont, Tex., is bucking the tour successfully "on his own."

BUTCH BAIRD, ambitious young Texan, found his courage well rewarded recently when he won the 1961 Waco Turner Open at Burneyville, Okla.

This first victory on the tour brought him $2,800 in cash, added respect from his fellow pros and much-needed attention from those who usually finance tournament pros.

For 18 long, tough months Butch has bucked the tour entirely on his own. Despite good rounds in many events he never finished better than fifth. His swing technique also demanded the good fight.

When I saw him standing flat-footed for a full swing I asked

Time Running Out For M&M Homer Hammering Pair

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The magic number for Roger Maris is four. Make it seven for Mickey Mantle, add another for the New York Yankees' charmed digit, and that's the situation as the chase for Babe Ruth's home run record and the American League pennant resumes tonight.

After a one-day respite, the M&M homer hammerers move into Chicago with 10 games in an eight-day period remaining in which to tie or surpass the Bambino's home run record of 60 under the 154-decision allotment decreed by Commissioner Ford Frick.

Maris, with 56 homers, is four games ahead of Ruth's record pace of 1927, while Mantle, with 53, has fallen two behind for the showdown stretch—night games at Chicago tonight and Wednesday and a day tilt Thursday, a twi-nighter at Detroit Friday followed by day contests Saturday and Sunday, a twi-nighter at Baltimore Tuesday, and a night game Wednesday.

The Yankees, leading the runner-up Detroit Tigers by 11½ games, need any combination of eight wins or Detroit losses to wrap up their 11th pennant in the last 13 years and the first for rookie Manager Ralph Houk.

Maris, who has found White Sox pitching the easiest in his chase with Ruth—he has tagged 13 against Chicago hurlers—and Mantle will be hitting against lefty Billy Pierce (9-8), the only AL moundsmen to surrender two homers to Maris in one game. Ralph Terry (13-2) goes for New York.

Mantle, who has hit 29 homers on the road to 24 at Yankee Stadium was looking forward to the road battles. But Maris, who has hit half a way and half at home, expressed indifference to his surroundings.

The Yankees, riding a 12-game winning streak, and the Tigers sat it out Monday, maintaining the status quo at the top of the standings. In the only games played, Boston walloped Washington 14-4, and Minnesota beat Los Angeles 5-2.

Gordon Windhorn led off the run that gave Los Angeles a 6-5 11th inning with a pinch hit home victory over Philadelphia Monday night and moved the second-place Dodgers within 3½ games of the National League leading Cincinnati Reds, who were idle.

Windhorn's game-winner broke the Dodgers' three-game losing streak, kept them only one game back in the lost column, had become the key to their hopes of overtaking Cincinnati and ended

a brilliant pitching performance by Don Ferrarese.

Ferrarese had hurled seven innings of no-hit relief and stretched his shutout string to 22 innings when Windhorn, brought up from Omaha in mid-season, whacked his first major league homer and fourth hit in 16 at bats.

Fourth-place San Francisco gained ground on third-place Milwaukee by beating the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 in 10 innings on Felipe Alou's homer while the Braves were losing 4-1 to St. Louis.

The Phils, trailing 5-1 after three innings, rocked starter Johnny Podres in the fourth for three runs on Les Walls second homer of the night and Bob Malenka's two-run single after the Dodger left-hander had filled the bases on walk; Charlie Smith's home run in the seventh tied it.

Ron Perranoski, (7-5), third Los Angeles pitcher, picked up the win, blanking the Phils for four innings before the Dodgers finally got to Ferrarese (4-10).

Jack Sanford (11-8) went all the way for the Giants, keeping the bases clear of Pirates by retiring the last 15 men he faced after Dick Stuart tagged him for homer No. 27 and tied it 3-3 in the sixth. Alou was the first man reliever Elroy Face (6-9) pitched to when he came on for starter Alvin McBean, who left for a pinch hitter.

Larry Jackson (13-9) checked the Braves on six hits and now has won five in succession and 10 of 11 decision since Johnny Keane replaced Solly Hemus as Cardinal manager in July. The Cards clinched it in the sixth against Lew Burdette (16-10) when Ken Boyer and Stan Musial, both 3-for-4, singled and scored on Carl Sawatski's pinch-hit single after a walk loaded the bases.

Picard, Little Get Hall of Fame Spots

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Lawson Little and Henry Picard, golf greats of pre-World War II days, have been elected to the PGA Hall of Fame in a nationwide poll of professional golfers.

Little, 52, perhaps the game's top amateur match player received 482 votes. Picard, 55, pro at the Canterbury Golf Club, Cleveland, Ohio, got 431.

Other high on the list in the balloting included Johnny Farrell, 416 votes; Bobby Cruickshank, 341; John Revolta, 279; Olin Dutra, 277; Ed Dudley, 248; Billy Burke, 208; and Joe Kirkwood Sr., 135.

Time Running Out For M&M Homer Hammering Pair

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The magic number for Roger Maris is four. Make it seven for Mickey Mantle, add another for the New York Yankees' charmed digit, and that's the situation as the chase for Babe Ruth's home run record and the American League pennant resumes tonight.

After a one-day respite, the M&M homer hammerers move into Chicago with 10 games in an eight-day period remaining in which to tie or surpass the Bambino's home run record of 60 under the 154-decision allotment decreed by Commissioner Ford Frick.

Maris, with 56 homers, is four games ahead of Ruth's record pace of 1927, while Mantle, with 53, has fallen two behind for the showdown stretch—night games at Chicago tonight and Wednesday and a day tilt Thursday, a twin-nighter at Detroit Friday followed by day contests Saturday and Sunday, a twin-nighter at Baltimore Tuesday, and a night game Wednesday.

The Yankees, leading the runner-up Detroit Tigers by 1½ games, need any combination of eight wins or Detroit losses to wrap up their 11th pennant in the last 13 years and the first for rookie Manager Ralph Houk.

Maris, who has found White Sox pitching the easiest in his chase with Ruth—he has tagged 13 against Chicago hurlers—and Mantle will be hitting against lefty Billy Pierce (9-8), the only AL moundsmen to surrender two homers to Maris in one game. Ralph Terry (13-2) goes for New York.

Mantle, who has hit 29 homers on the road to 24 at Yankee Stadium was looking forward to the road battles. But Maris, who has hit half a way and half at home, expressed indifference to his surroundings.

The Yankees, riding a 12-game winning streak, and the Tigers at it out Monday, maintaining the status quo at the top of the standings. In the only games played, Boston walloped Washington 14-4, and Minnesota beat Los Angeles 5-2.

Gordon Windhorn led off the run that gave Los Angeles a 6-5 11th inning with a pinch hit home victory over Philadelphia Monday night and moved the second-place Dodgers within 3½ games of the National League leading Cincinnati Reds, who were idle.

Windhorn's three-game losing streak, kept them only one game back in the lost column that has become the key to their hopes of overtaking Cincinnati and ended

a brilliant pitching performance by Don Ferrarese.

Ferrarese had hurled seven innings of no-hit relief and stretched his shutout string to 22 innings when Windhorn, brought up from Omaha in mid-season, whacked his first major league homer and fourth hit in 16 at bats.

Fourth-place San Francisco gained ground on third-place Milwaukee by beating the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 in 13 innings on Felipe Alou's homer while the Braves were losing 4-1 to St. Louis.

The Phils, trailing 5-1 after three innings, rocked starter Johnny Podres in the fourth for three runs on Lee Walls second homer of the night and Bob Malenka's two-run single after the Dodger left-hander had filled the bases on walks: Charlie Smith's home run in the seventh tied it.

Ron Perranoski, (7-5), third Los Angeles pitcher, picked up the win, blanking the Phils for four innings before the Dodgers finally got to Ferrarese (4-10).

Jack Sanford (11-8) went all the way for the Giants, keeping the bases clear of Pirates by retiring the last 15 men he faced after Dick Stuart tagged him for homer No. 27 and tied it 3-3 in the sixth. Alou was the first man reliever Elroy Face (6-9) pitched to when he came on for starter Alvin McBean, who left for a pinch hitter.

Larry Jackson, (13-9) checked the Braves on six hits and now has won five in succession and 10 of 11 decision since Johnny Keane replaced Solly Hemus as Cardinal manager in July. The Cards clinched it in the sixth against Lew Burdette (16-10) when Ken Boyer and Stan Musial, both 3-for-4, singled and scored on Carl Sawatski's pinch-hit single after a walk loaded the bases.

Picard, Little Get Hall of Fame Spots

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Lawson Little and Henry Picard, golf greats of pre-World War II days, have been elected to the PGA Hall of Fame in a nationwide poll of professional golfers.

Little, 52, perhaps the game's top amateur match player received 482 votes. Picard, 55, pro at the Canterbury Golf Club, Cleveland, Ohio, got 431.

Other high on the list in the balloting included Johnny Farrell, 416 votes; Bobby Cruickshank, 341; John Revolta, 279; Olin Dutra, 277; Ed Dudley, 248; Billy Burke, 208; and Joe Kirkwood Sr., 135.

Columbus Jets Start Playoff Stint Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The pennant winning Columbus Jets begin the International League semifinal playoff series tonight when they meet the Rochester Red Wings in the first game of the best-of-seven series.

In the second playoff game, Charleston, the second place finisher, meets Buffalo at Charleston. The two winners meet for the Governor's Cup, symbol of the league's playoff championship, with the victor facing the American Association champion in the Junior World Series.

Rochester made it into the series with a thrilling 12-11, 10 inning victory over defending champion Toronto Monday night, after the two had finished in a tie for fourth place when the regular season ended.

A duel of hard-throwing left handers is expected at Columbus. Bob Veale will start for the Jets and Art Quirk for Rochester. Veale (14-11) led the league with 204 strikeouts. Quirk (10-8) has fanned 162 batters.

Ray Washburn, the IL's top winner with a 16-9 record, will get the call for Charleston. He will be opposed by Babe Birrer (11-9) of third-place Buffalo.
